PROTEST HARVEY

Another Peaceless Memorial Day Near—War on Ripper Begins

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU
Columbus, O., May 28.
COLUMBUS — (Special) — It was only last week that a correspondent sought a perspective of the agricultural mind at this time and reported that the farmers are doing little—precious little—talking about domestic issues and are concentrating on foreign ones. The reason, this writer explained, was that the farmers, those who are intelligent—and that's nearly all—are looking for markets and they know the home market is glutted. They are becoming foreign experts because they are studying the issue with concentration and with a financial eye. This week confirmation came in the form of a review by Louis J. Taber, of Belmont-co. Mr. Taber is a Republican, so he cannot be accused of spreading any partisan poison in his review; at least none of the kind that would do his party any teenyweeny bit of harm. And what does Taber say? He says the farmers are more discouraged today than ever in their history; that they threaten a boycott on buying anything whatever and that they see only pessimism ahead.

Now it is said that—Mr. Taber would plant no poisonous weed seed, but that may be modified to the extent that he did commend the tariff highly, for instance to the farmers' wives who are gathering eggs, "preparing to give them away," to quote Colonel William E. North, of Greenville, Ohio. But the good ladies turned up their noses at the Grange leader and he admitted it. "Nothing to that," they cried, and in unison, too, just think of it! No, the wives wouldn't swallow that dose. They saw other troubles and asserted quite loudly that this is a food exporting country and that tariff cannot help. Then Mr. Taber reluctantly talked foreign topics and he found them sitting up right away. He hates to admit it, but the League of Nations idea is growing stronger, not thru Utopian plans of a world in which there is no prospect of war, but thru the pocket-book nerve. And Taber has been leading up to it. Now that is not politics, but it is business. Shall we say with a political reflex? Well, perhaps!

Still another Memorial Day is to pass over a state and a nation that do not have official peace. This is the fifth and the two last ones have passed because the pathway to peace has been blocked. Again let us take stock. In 1917, the war had just begun. In 1918, it was raging in its last frightful year. In 1919, the terms had been practically agreed upon. In 1920, we did not have peace because there were men who thought more of party success than they did of national honor. Today we are on the verge of another peaceless Memorial Day. The war is a bit of glorious and tragic memory and the record made is of the sort which future orators can employ to stir to its depths the soul of America. But peace is still afar off. We should like to hear the orators tell one and all—what is in their hearts now. On whom do they place the blame?

Whispers in Columbus are that Ohio has contributed her full share to the quota of letters that have succeeded to members of Congress on one George Britton McClellan Harvey. There are whispers here that the members will not tell how many they received from home folk since the distinguished minister plenipotentiary and ambassador extraordinary out of those over there. Had the members been rapturously praiseful in tone, let us think they would have been given out by the team long ere this, but the active and truthful reporters in Washington are not told of the letters. Still, the news has gotten back here just the same. And if you do not believe that a number of Ohio Congressmen are burning up to tell us how they feel to be scolded by their constituents for something they cannot help, just glimpse the private

GUN BATTLE IN STREET STARTS FROM MISTAKE

Cleveland Officers, Believed to be Bandits, Fired on by Party Asking Aid

CLEVELAND — A mistake, made mutually by police and a citizen who had been robbed by footpads, caused a gun battle in the east end Saturday in which two scores of shots were fired.
George Martin, returning home was held up and robbed by two men.
Martin reported the robbery to police headquarters, asking for the flying squad. He was told the squadron was out, but assistance would be sent later.
Dissatisfied with the response,
Martin went home, secured a revolver and accompanied by a friend, returned to the scene of the holdup.
Shortly after two plainclothes patrolmen were sent out to hunt for the robbers.
Martin thought they were the robbers returning and he and his companion ran to the Martin home, the officers following on the assumption they were the robbers.
From an upstairs window Martin opened fire on the officers who had sought entrance. The officers returned the fire. Thirty-six bullet holes were counted in the ceiling of the room occupied by Martin, who surrendered when the flying squadron drove up to his home. No one was hurt.

U.S. OPENS WAR ON FOREIGN TRUSTS

Secretary Hoover Forming League of Business.

GIGANTIC PROBLEMS FACED

Alliance to Develop Home and European Policy.

(By RUSSELL A. BROWNING)
WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is planning a great American "league of business" to fight for America's place in the business sun against the giant commercial trusts of Europe, it became known Saturday night.
A skeleton organization has already been created by Hoover. This league is to have an elected congress of general staff and a tribunal for the settlement of disputes among its members.
CONFRONTED BY TRUSTS Hoover's plan calls for a great alliance of business capable of developing a distinctive home and foreign policy and at all times maintain a united front against foreign competition.
Business men of the United States find themselves confronted by the following giant European business trusts.
The German lateral and vertical trusts; the British colonial preference and industrial subsidy schemes; and Italian semi-communistic industrial organizations.

RECEIVING COMMITTEES

Hoover believes that an alliance of American business with a clear understanding of the aims, relations and prerogatives of each will avoid trust monopolies on one hand and interfering warfare on the other.
He plans to avoid all objectionable features of great trusts, but at the same time, create a tremendous business army for the promotion of the welfare of American business and the country at large.
With this idea in mind, Hoover is receiving communique from all big industries. Seventeen of these deputations, representing great commercial organizations, have already conferred with Hoover.
It is from these bodies that Hoover has created his skeleton organization. This organization will be enlarged "until the league of business" is a concrete, efficient force, carrying out its policy of a united front against foreign competition all over the world.

BANDITS TAKE $3,500
FROM YOUNG WOMAN

CLEVELAND — Two youthful bandits at noon today beat and knocked down Miss Dorothy Epstein, 18, tore a satchel containing $3,500 from her hands, and escaped. Miss Epstein was returning from a bank with the payroll of the Simmons Manufacturing company where she is employed, accompanied by Miss Minnie Legow, another employee, when the robbery took place.

WEATHER FOR THE WEEK

WASHINGTON — Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday, issued by the weather bureau Saturday are:
Ohio Valley and Tennessee, region of Great Lakes — Temperature below normal, occasional local showers.

FILLS MINE
ZONE JAILS

Officials Now Protesting They Have No Room for Additional Prisoners

CITIZENS CLASH

Attack on 200 Volunteer Policemen Is Answered
by Kiwanis Club

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. — Martial law in the Mingo mine war zone has filled the county jail and now city officials are protesting they have no room for additional persons arrested.

Nearly a score have been arrested by state police for violation of the martial law proclamation. Fifteen were taken at Merriam, charged with gaming.
Walter Loving was arrested Saturday at Matewan, charged with killing two girl telephone operators "yellow dogs." The girls, Emma Chaffin and Elsie Chambers testified against relatives at the Matewan battle trial here last March.

Marshall Crum, brother of George Crum, one of the three victims of a fight at Nolan Tuesday, was released from custody Saturday. He proved he was at his home in Kentucky when the shooting occurred.
VOLUNTEERS ATTACKED
WILLIAMSON, W. Va. — Citizens of Williamson forming the body of 200 or more volunteer special policemen which is cooperating with the regular law agencies of the state and county in an effort to put an end to wholesale murders, shootings, destruction of property and other lawless acts in Mingo-co. have been grossly maligned by James Riley, president of the West Virginia Federation of Labor, in the opinion of the Williamson Kiwanis Club.

A vigorous statement unanimously adopted at a meeting of the club at which 83 members were present, the charges made by President Riley in a recent address in Wheeling are refuted. The statement follows:
"The Kiwanis Club of Williamson, to the citizens of West Virginia:
"Utter disregard for truth, gross ignorance and unreasoning partisanship, mark the comment of James Riley, president of the West Virginia Federation of Labor, in a public address at Wheeling, as to the formation in Mingo-co. of the volunteer force of special state policemen to assist the regularly constituted law agencies of the state and county in putting an end to the wholesale murders, shootings and destruction of property within our borders which have shocked the country. If correctly reported, Mr. Riley, among other things stated:
"It is a fact that gunmen of Mingo-co. who are bearing arms under the pretext of enforcing the law are men who are criminally insane.
Not a reputable citizen of Mingo-co.
has consented to join the new state police and become a tool of the coal

BACKED BY CLUB

Such statement cannot be permitted to go unchallenged and the Kiwanis Club of Williamson, desiring only that the real facts be known, pledged its good word that they were utterly false, and in support thereof do offer:
"First, that practically every able bodied member of this club capable of bearing arms is a volunteer member of the volunteer state police force and that the club as a body, has offered its services to aid in restoring law and order.

"Second, that the membership of the Williamson Kiwanis Club, includes the ministers of the city, the leading lawyers, physicians and dentists, jobbers, wholesalers, traveling men, retail merchants, newspapermen, teachers, Sunday School workers and church men, manufacturers, engineers, railroad officials and employees, mining men and mine employees, many ex-service men and who represent all religious faiths and political beliefs."

METCALF-ST. OVERHEAD
PLANS DELAYED UNTIL STEEL PRICES FLATTEN

When the steel market hits the bottom, assurances have been given by officials of the Lake Erie & Western railroad company that construction on the Metcalf-st. bridge overhead will begin. James B. Dugan, chairman of the Metcalf-st. overhead committee of the Chamber of Commerce learned this from official sources the past week.
The viaduct over the Lake Erie tracks in Metcalf-st. has been under contemplation for a number of years.
Its construction was delayed by advance of the war and later because plans for the structure were tied up in court. The way was cleared recently when common pleas court passed on the plans, which had been approved by county, city and railroad engineers.

Steel has steadily declined in price for the past three months, but has not yet reached a low ebb, in the opinion of rail officials.

PREACHER SEES FAMINE NEAR AT HAND, LEADS MOVE TO BURY FOOD

SANTA ANNA, Calif. — The discovery of two tons of foods securely cased and buried deep in a canyon near here, caused an investigation by Sheriff C. F. Jackson, Saturday.

The sheriff said he found the cache had been made by a local preacher and two members of his congregation who explained they had acted on a biblical passage that belief foretold a time of famine. The sheriff declined to give their names.

5,109 KILLED BY CANCER IN OHIO

Disease's Toll Taken for Past Year Is Reported.

BIG INCREASE IS SHOWN

Tuberculosis Death Rate in State
Is on Decline.

COLUMBUS — Marked decline in the tuberculosis death rate in Ohio and a substantial increase in the number of deaths from cancer, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and measles is shown in vital statistics for 1920, made public Saturday by Dr. U. G. Murrell, chief of the state bureau of vital statistics.

Total number of deaths from all causes in 1920 was 73,843, the rate per 1,000 of population being 12.6, as compared with 72,512 deaths and a rate of 12.7, for 1919.

HEART DISEASE LEADS Tuberculosis dropped from second place as a cause of death, to fourth place. The greatest single cause of death for 1920, was heart disease, which claimed 8,266 persons. This is an increase of 607 over 1919.
Pneumonia stands second as a cause of death, with 7,953 deaths, and cerebral hemorrhage third, with 5, 964 deaths.

The number of deaths from tuberculosis in the state in 1920 was 5,944, making the rate 10.1 per 1,000 inhabitants, as compared with 6,542 deaths in 1919, and a rate of 11.6.

The total number of deaths from cancer in 1920 was 5,109, as compared with 4,891 in 1919. Measles killed 743 persons in 1920, as against 197 in 1919; scarlet fever, 372 as compared with 135 the previous year, while whooping cough, usually regarded as not dangerous, caused 322 deaths in 1920, as against 244 in 1919.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

There were 18 deaths due to automobile accidents as compared with 461 for the preceding year. Deaths from railroad accidents also increased from 560 in 1919. The total of accidental deaths decreased from 4,403 to 4,391. There were 420 homicides as against 417 the previous year, while the total of deaths from suicide was decreased from 723 to 587.

SAILS FOR EUROPE

DAYTON — Mrs. Edith McClure
Patterson of Dayton, sailed from New York Saturday to investigate European school conditions as a representative of the United States government.

Results of the investigation will be used as a foundation for legislative proposals before the next session of congress.
Mrs. Patterson plans to visit schools, colleges and universities in England, France and Belgium, Switzerland, Scotland and Denmark.
She recently completed a tour of colleges and universities in the United States.

GROCERS ACCUSED OF SELLING TAINTED MEAT

TOLEDO — Feeding of the poor with tainted meats and spoiled groceries supplied by grocers who were paid from city funds, has aroused civic organizations. Members of the Housewives' League said the food furnished the poor wasn't fit to feed to a dog.
Anarchy is feared by some city officials unless something is done to aid the unemployed. Public work is being planned which will give work to the needy.

LEGISLATURE IS ENDED BY
GOV. DAVIS

Issues Proclamation When House and Senate Fail to Agree

SENATORS HOSTILE

Members of Upper Branch
May Take the Matter Into Courts

COLUMBUS — Governor Davis
Saturday night, accepted the challenge of the leaders of the general assembly and adjourned the state legislature by proclamation.

His action, which was the first of its kind ever taken by an Ohio executive, followed disagreement between house and senate leaders over sine die adjournment.

The house, after a caucus of Republican members, voted 74 to 9 to kill the resolution passed by the senate Friday night, providing a recess until January 9. The lower branch followed the action with a 75 to 6 vote for final adjournment Saturday night. This opened the way for Governor Davis' proclamation which declared that because of the disagreement of the two bodies, he believed the assembly should be dissolved.

HOUSE STATEMENT

Speaker Beetham and Majority Floor Leader Crabbe, in formal statements issued Saturday night, defended the action of the house.
The legislature could have adjourned early in April, according to the statement of the house leaders.
They charged that only the obstinate refusal of senate members prevented adjournment action then and the same faction had blocked repeated attempts of the lower branch to end work. The statement insisted there was no more important work for the house makers and that a recess was unseemly procedure.

SENATORS HOSTILE

Senators were openly hostile Saturday night as a result of the governor's alleged "interference." They declared they had not decided a plan of action, but pointed out the senate could fight the move in the court if necessary. Other favored ignoring the procedure.
Senate leaders declared in any event they would hold Governor Davis to his promise to call a special session on taxation. They indicated they may attempt to put thru their plans for acting on appointments to the state cabinet under the reorganization bill during the special session. Those favoring this action pointed out that a revamping of the general appropriations bill and additional legislation might be necessary to prepare the way for reorganization of the administration.

ACE COMPLETES LONG FLIGHT

Capt. Rickenbacker Reaches Washington from California.

WASHINGTON — Captain Eddie Rickenbacker arrived here late Saturday, completing his hard luck cross-continent flight.

The American ace had planned to make the trip with only one stop, but was forced to land six times from Redwood City, Calif., to Washington. The flight was made in the interests of the American Legion membership campaign.

When he landed in Washington, Rickenbacker had completed a trail of American Legion circulars across the continent, dropping them from his airplanes.
Rickenbacker met with hard luck from the very start of the flight.
He went to Redwood City, Calif., from San Francisco in order to "hop off" for Washington, on Tuesday. In landing at Redwood City, his plane went into a slide and he had difficulty in righting it. Fortunately, neither he nor the plane were injured.

After waiting over a day at Redwood City for the weather to clear, he took off Tuesday.

The fog drove him back to the landing field, but he got away again in a short time.
In crossing the Rockies, the flier encountered strong head winds which delayed him in reaching Cheyenne. He landed on the field at night and smashed his plane. He was again fortunate and escaped injury.

Flying with a United States mail priority, Rickenbacker left Cheyenne Friday, and with stops at North Platte and Omaha, Neb., and Iowa City, made Chicago Friday night.
He left Chicago Saturday morning as a passenger in an army plane.
At Dayton, he changed planes and piloted his own ship into Washington.

STILL IN BATH ROOM LEADS TO HOME TRAGEDY

Dayton Husband Shot by Wife as Result of Liquor Quarrel

Dayton, — Police who investigated the affair, declare that a still set up and operated in the bath room of their apartment, was the primary cause of the shooting of Rowland
Tarr, 38, by his wife, Mary, 25, here Saturday evening. The wounded man was shot in the stomach, when his wife fired thru the door of an adjoining apartment, where he sought refuge when she started for him. According to the police, Tarr had planned to peddle some of the liquor, but his wife strenuously objected and the fight started.

The Tarrs came from Louisville, Ky., and the police Saturday night investigating rumors to the effect that Mrs. Tarr had previously used a gun on two other men and was also wanting for bigamy in Louisville. Neither of the rumors had been confirmed late Saturday night.

Mrs. Tarr is at Central police station, while her husband is at a hospital.

ARMY HOLIDAY TO BE DEMANDED

Broadening of Borah Disarmament Measure Sought.

WILL COME UP IN HOUSE

Mondell Discusses Proposition with the President.

(By L. C. MARTIN)
WASHINGTON — An attempt to broaden the Borah disarmament resolution to include inland as well as naval forces will be made in the house. Representative Mondell, Republican leader, asked President Harding Saturday if he would object to including land disarmament in the call for Great Britain and Japan on a "naval holiday."

According to Mondell, the president replied that he would not oppose any reasonable broadening of the Borah plan. On his return to the house, Mondell so informed his colleagues, and they are now formulating plans to amend the original resolution to that extent.

Senators who helped Borah fight his proposal thru the upper body as a rider to the navy bill believe inclusion of land as well as naval disarmament would tend to defeat the measure's purpose, and they are looking with disfavor upon the house plans.

The senate summarily defeated an attempt by Senator Pomerene, and another by Senator Walsh, Montana, to broaden Borah's plan for the reason that the author feared to complicate the disarmament question.

Senators, while carefully refraining from criticism of the house, pointed out that Borah and other disarmament advocates had carefully considered the inclusion of land disarmament, and after a study of the situation in Great Britain and Japan, as well as at home, decided against including it.

PERMIT SOUGHT FOR SALE OF "CRACKERS"

Signs of impending 4th of July celebrations are being seen. A storekeeper from one of the small towns near Lima has applied to county health commissioner J. J. Sutter for a permit to sell firecrackers.
Dr. Sutter informed the dealer that the health department had nothing to do with the sale of the "crackers" and assured him that as long as no "foreign germs" were brought in there will be no interference from his department.

REDMAN FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Cynthia Ann Redman, who died suddenly from heart trouble at her home, 122
N. Cole-st., Friday night, will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the A. M. E. church, W. Spring-st. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

NO PAPER MONDAY

The Lima News, following its custom of giving its employees all legal holidays, will not publish any editions tomorrow, Decoration Day.

UPRISING OF REDSKINS IN UTAH BEGINS

Outbreak Starts When Ute Is Shot to Death by Sheriff's Pose

AID PLEA FOLLOWS

Wires are Cut as Gangs Rush to Mountains for Reinforcements

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah. — The Ute Indians of Colorado and Utah, donned their war paint again Saturday night.

The most warlike of the western red men threatened a new outbreak, following the killing of a Ute by a sheriff's posse rounding up a bunch of Indian cattle thieves.

State troops were held ready Saturday night on orders of the adjutant general to quell any outbreak.

Following the killing of the Indian, the remainder of the band took to the mountains, warning they would return with reinforcements.
Poses were organized at Monticello and Blanding. Wires were cut by the Utes between the two points.

United States Marshal Nebeker of Salt Lake appealed to adjutant general to be prepared.

The last uprising of the Utes was in 1915, near Bluff, Utah. The Indians were divided into two bands of 250 braves each. They created a strong fort at Combe Wash.

General Hugh Scott, veteran of Indian wars of other days, who knew the leaders, was sent to quell the uprising. The Indians fled.

Many of the renegades, now sought, never acknowledged the sovereignty of the United States and stay hidden in box canyons and rugged cattle.

NEW FAIR GROUND IS PLANNED

Board to Consider Locations at Saturday Meeting.

Steps to provide a new home for the Allen-co. fair will be taken at the meeting of the board Saturday, June 4. As the board has a lease on the present location for about two more years, there will be no immediate change. The plan, in mind, however, is to secure land and be ready to build a complete up-to-date plant before the present lease expires.

Several locations are under consideration. One of these, a farm on the Eldon rd., will be considered at Saturday's meeting. At that time the owners will be present and state their proposition to the board.
It is understood also that grounds near the Shawnee Country club are also being considered.

Details of this year's fair are being worked out and it is believed that with a strong racing card assured and a larger premium list than ever, a banner fair will be seen.

EDDIE RICKENBACKER, IN CROSS-COUNTRY FLIGHT PASSES OVER THIS CITY

Eddie Rickenbacker, America's premier ace, on a cross-continent flight from the Pacific Coast to Washington, passed over Lima shortly after noon, Saturday. He was traveling in a north-easterly direction.

His plane was high in the air, but was seen by a number of persons.
The whirr of the giant propellers was plainly audible.

in the day and made a landing at McCook field, Dayton, at 10:10 a.
m. He changed planes there and proceeded on his way.

DAMAGE CLAIMS MADE ON ROAD EXTENSION

County commissioners Saturday heard claims for compensation and damages on the extension of the congress rd. which passes thru Delphos.

Several persons made claims for money for use of property for road extension. No action was taken by commissioners. They will investigate conditions further and award damages later. They will view the property in question this week.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE EARLIER

The Lima Public Library will be closed all day Decoration Day. Beginning June first and continuing thru July and August the Library will close each evening at 8 o'clock, instead of at 8:30 as has been the custom heretofore. This earlier closing will be in force during the hot months only and the old time will be in force again the first of September.

DIVORCE DECREES ARE ENTERED

Forrest's Suit Dismissed, Wife Wins Award.

AYERS MUST SUPPORT CHILD

Frank Shafer Asks That Divorce Case Be Reopened.

Altho Earl L. Forrest, started action for divorce, his petition was dismissed by Judge F. C. Becker Saturday and Mrs. Lella C. Forrest was awarded the decree on her cross petition.

Cruelty was the ground upon which the decree was granted. Mrs. Forrest told the court that for eight months her husband failed to provide for his family and that she was forced to depend on relatives for clothing for herself and children, as well as a part of their food.

She says her husband was of nagging disposition and that he punished their children without cause, leaving her when she was expecting the advent of a little child into the home. The Forrests formerly resided at 522 Atlantic-ave.

WIFE MAKES CHARGES
The wife said she was forced to take her little flock to the home of her mother, 623 W. Kibby-st., and said her husband often requested her to file proceedings for divorce.

Forrest, in his petition, charged his wife refused to return to their home, after leaving in February, 1920, to reunite the family, claiming she lavished her affection on another man.

The couple were married on September 10, 1908, in Newport, Ky., and have three children, Earline 11, Joseph 8 and June 4 years old.

Judge William Klinger, in June of last year, had ordered Forrest to pay his wife $25 a week for the support of the children. Judge Becker, in deciding the case Saturday, gave Mrs. Forrest alimony in the sum of $1,000 and allowed her $16 a week for support of their minor children.

Mrs. Grace Ayers was divorced from William Ayers on the ground of cruelty and Ayers must pay $5 a week for the support of their minor child. He was enjoined by the court from interfering with her and her rights in maintaining control of the child, altho he may visit the baby at reasonable times, if he is of good conduct.

ASKS REOPENING OF CASE
Frank R. Shafer, from whom Hazel V. Shafer was divorced on July 15 last, asks that the case be reopened, in an effort to obtain possession of their three children. Shafer says the court ordered him to pay $9 a week towards their support and that he has complied with the order.

Shafer charges his wife has relinquished control of the children and fails to look after their welfare. He says money he has paid for their support has not been properly applied and charged his wife's conduct is questionable. Shafer desires to take the children to a home he says he has provided.

POLICE LOOK UP WILLIS' RECORD

Claim Alleged Bandit Served Sentence in Missouri.

White police are awaiting the special grand jury which convenes Tuesday and which will investigate the charges against George Donovan, Joe Willis and John Mason, three prisoners taken during the battle between police and members of the McGinn-Townsend gang, who are being held at county jail, they are endeavoring to marshal information concerning the three men.

These investigations, according to police, have led to the discovery that George Donovan is wanted in Chicago for the alleged murder of Police Sergeant Edward Marpo. The Chicago policeman is said to have been killed October 29, 1920, by Donovan. Further records, according to Captain of Police, disclose that Donovan was arrested as John Thompson in 1914; as John Washington in August, 1915; as Joe Dunn, at Gary, Ind., October 27, 1915; for the latter he served six months in the workhouse; arrested as Joe Dunn, February 13, 1917 in Chicago; as Joe Dunn, March 1917; as James Dunn, March 1920.

The man who is going under the name of Joe Willis and whose wife is said to have sent Chicago attorney here to defend him, police declare served a two-year sentence in the Missouri state penitentiary at Jefferson City for burglary and larceny. Efforts are being made to ascertain whether he served time in any other prison.

Police have thus far been unable to locate a past record on Mason.

LIMA PEOPLE SAIL ON WEDNESDAY FOR EUROPE

Members of the party which will attend the International Convention of Rotary clubs at Edinburgh, Scotland, the early part of June and later to Europe, will sail from New York Wednesday. A part of the company will leave Lima Sunday and others depart Monday.

Among those who will take this trip are Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Blattenberg, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Hulsken, B. F. Thomas, Dr. T. R. Thomas, L. S. Galvin, W. E. Bayly and G. E. Bayly.

Approximately three months will be consumed on this journey, the party returning something about September first.

FARMERS' EQUITY HEAD TO SPEAK HERE TUESDAY

A meeting of those interested in the Farmers' Equity Union Creamery Co., of Lima, will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium Tuesday night.

C. O. Drayton, president of the National Farmers Equity association will speak and outline the methods to be followed in the operation of the creamery to be established here. This is a co-operative company, capitalized at $200,000 and a complete butter and produce plant will be built later in the year.

This plant will be associated with other farmers' creameries and grain elevators throughout Ohio and the middle west and co-operative marketing is contemplated.

The board of directors of the new company includes Judge Klinger, Owen Dickenson, D. E. Bower, W. A. Stevenson, all of Lima, and H. J. Sunderland of Spencerville. Judge Klinger is president of the company.

PLEA IS MADE FOR SAFETY MEN

Safer Opposed to Reduction of Force or Pay.

Safety Director Fred H. Fisher is opposed to a proposition suggested by members of council that in lieu of salaries of policemen and firemen going back to a former bases of $125 per month on July 1, that ten men be laid off in each department. This plan is not approved by the Safer, as he feels that the city has none too many policemen and firemen even with the present force.

"At this time we have 32 policemen and 40 firemen," Fisher said Saturday. "If ten men were laid off in each department, in the order of things as they exist, these would be the youngest men on the force. The plan is not feasible, I feel, too, that the temporary increase of salary granted the safety men nine months ago for a period of six months and then continued for another three months, the time expiring on June 30, should be continuing permanently."

Previous to the granting of an increase of ten per cent, due to the high cost of living, the policemen and firemen received salaries of $125 per month. The salary boost brought the pay of the safety men up to $137.50 monthly. Anticipated cuts in living costs had not materialized at the end of the six months period and the time was extended for another three months, to July 1, by vote of council.

With the prospect of accepting a cut in salary, beginning July 1, starting them in the face, members of the departments are of the opinion that their positions are none too attractive. Policemen and firemen feel that the present salary is small enough when it is considered that their calling is extremely hazardous.

Safety Director Fisher is also asking that council provide funds for the purchase of another auto for use by the police department and that a clerk be provided for the chief of police, so that he will have more time for important work outside, that is now consumed by detail work in his office and which could be easily handled by a clerk. Fisher has addressed letters to members of the safety and finance committees of council, asking that present salaries be continued.

LIMA MAN SPEAKER AT MEETING OF POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES IN COLUMBUS

Earl E. Winemiller, foreman of the Lima mail carriers, will discuss the question, "Is the pending legislation on the reclassification of foremen sufficient?" at the fifth annual convention of the Ohio state branch of the National Association of Supervisory Post Office Employees, at Columbus, Monday.

This convention is for the purpose of bringing before the supervisory employees the various questions which have to do with the bettering of the mail service. There will be a morning session, at which reports of officers and committees will be heard and an address by Jack Fields, president of the National Association will be given. At the afternoon session ten minute talks will be heard from members from different parts of the state and a general discussion of problems. Delegates to the national convention and officers for the coming year will be also named at this time.

Other Lima men who will be present at the meeting are Clarence Mumaugh, assistant postmaster, and Aaa Osman, chief stamp clerk. Mumaugh is the secretary and treasurer of the state body.

PAINTERS CUT PRICES

Another sign of decreasing costs in the lines connected with the construction or remodeling of a home was seen here last week when the members of the Master Painters and Decorators association announced a 15 percent cut in present prices of work. The decreases will become effective June 1st.

GOOD ROADS BODY PLANS MEETING

Co-ordinate Efforts of Better Highway Agencies.

ADDRESS BY G. F. RUDISILL

Enthusiasts to Rally Here Monday, June 6.

Initial meeting of the Allen-co Good Roads council, which is to co-ordinate all of the better highways agencies in the county, will be held in Chamber of Commerce auditorium, Monday, June 6, at 3 p. m.

G. F. Rudisill, state director of the Ohio Good Roads Federation, will attend this meeting. He will present Allen-co's exact history in the matter of taxes paid and the amount refunded from the state. A program of work will be mapped out which will in time touch every nook and corner in the county.

CO-ORDINATION PLANNED
Allen-co has suffered in the past because the organizations striving for road betterment have failed to pull together. Particularly has this been true where state aid was involved.

Included in the council will be 24 representative business men of the county, four of whom are the county commissioners and the county surveyor. In addition, the president of every board of township trustees in the county is included. In some cases representatives have not been selected.

COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP
Complete membership of the council, including officers who were selected Saturday, will be: J. C. Hartline, chairman; Frank A. Thomas, vice-chairman; J. Kennard Johnson, secretary; W. C. Bradley, treasurer; County Commissioners A. J. Gray, W. W. Craig, J. W. Thompson; County Surveyor E. A. Miller; Howard P. Dean, Lima Ad Club; Frank Colucci, Allen-co Auto club; Clarence Breece, Allen-co Farm Bureau; Glen C. Webb, Chamber of Commerce; C. A. Arganbright, county superintendent of schools; Joe Kauffman, Elks' club; Earl Leech, Lima News; P. W. Crawford, Merchants association; J. E. Sullivan, postmaster; M. M. Milliken, Lions; W. J. Galvin, Republican-Gazette; Mack Altshuler, wholesalers and salesmen, presidents of township trustees; William Neely, Amanda, Glenside, American; J. C. Eastman, Auglaize; G. W. Thomas, Bath; C. N. LUTHER LEAGUE IN MEETING HERE

Adjourn to Hold Fall Meeting in Convoy.

Lima District Luther League held its spring convention here Friday in Bethany Lutheran church. The League will meet in Convoy in November.

In commemoration of the birth of Luther, the fall convention is always held as near as possible to November 10 as can be made convenient. The custom will be observed again this year.

At that time new officers will be elected. Present officers are: H. A. Slonecker, Lima, president; Mrs. Lee Waller, vice president, Convoy; Miss Margarette Meyer, Lima, recording secretary; Miss Cora DeBols, Wapakoneta, statistical secretary; Miss Grace Kruse, Lima, treasurer.

Among speakers of prominence were the Rev. B. F. Hoefer, Van Wert; Luther T. Spayde, Lima, and the Rev. Webster C. Sayde, pastor of the entertaining church.

The closing address of the convention was given Friday evening by the Rev. Wayne O. Kantner, Mansfield, from the subject, "The Opening of a Closed Book."

MILITARY HONORS FOR BRYAN HIRE, MONDAY

Military honors for Bryan J. Hire, 22, who died in France, having been gassed while serving in the World War, will be held at Woodlawn cemetery, Tuesday morning.

Funeral services for Hire were held in Lima soon after his death. The body will be conveyed from the Eckert mortuary, in charge of the American Legion.

At Woodlawn, three volleys will be fired over the grave and taps will be sounded by a bugler. Hire is the son of Moses R. Hire, 1234 Atlantic-ave. Besides the father, he is survived by a brother, Augustus D. Hire, residing with the father.

WAYNESFIELD CHRONICLE STARTS ITS 26TH YEAR

Few men in Ohio, or any other state, who established newspapers in past years, can claim the distinction of having continued their publication for a period of 25 years. This unusual accomplishment falls to the lot of E. Benj. Yale, prominent in the affairs of the Buckeye Press association and the editor and publisher of the Waynesfield Chronicle, a weekly newspaper in an eastern Auglaize-co town.

The Chronicle last week started on the 26th year of its existence under the guidance of Yale. The anniversary event was celebrated by the publication of a 32-page issue of the paper, replete with historical events in connection with the development of the little village, carrying the current news of its territory and many features to make it of value to the Chronicle's clientele.

Editor Yale's accomplishment in making his newspaper and printing plant one of the most successful enterprises in Waynesfield is all the more remarkable from the fact that the village possesses only a few hundred inhabitants.

NEW ARGONNE HOTEL STOCK SALES MOUNT

Stock subscriptions for the Argonne, Lima's new half million dollar hotel, mounted to near the $200,000 mark during the past week, according to F. W. Durbin. Of this amount $30,000 was secured during the week.

The entire cost of the hostelry will approximate $550,000. Of this amount $500,000 represents cost of the building and the remaining $50,000 for furnishings. Practically all of the stock will be disposed of in Lima, promoters feel assured, making the hotel a home owned enterprise.

LIGHTS INSTALLED IN PARKS BY COMMISSION

Lights have been placed in Faurot and Lincoln parks in anticipation of these public pleasure grounds being largely frequented on Sunday and Monday by residents of the city. F. E. Harman, chairman of the city park commission stated Saturday.

A police officer has also been retained by the commission to look after both parks.

Owing to pressure of business affairs during the week Mr. Harman stated that members of the commission have been unable to meet as planned, for consideration of ways and means to secure funds to carry on improvements planned for the parks. A little more than $50 was realized from Tag Day, a week ago about two and a half times that amount is needed.

The money that has been raised, however, will enable the commission to carry a portion of their plans into effect.

ELECTRICITY IN FLASH OF LIGHTNING IS FIXED

Electrical storms which have been frequent in the vicinity of Lima this summer probably have caused many persons to wonder how much electricity really is contained in a flash of lightning.

This question has just been settled by Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical expert, who has just completed a study of lightning flashes.

He says that at a power rate of 5 cents per kilowatt hour, the electrical energy in a flash of lightning would be worth 70 cents. The potential of the flash is estimated to be 50,000,000 volts, the current 10,000 amperes, and the duration of the flash about one ten-thousandth of a second.

MANY LIMA PEOPLE AT INDIANAPOLIS RACES

That Lima will be well represented at the Decoration Day automobile races at Indianapolis is evidenced by the reports coming in from the various automobile enthusiasts about the city. Just how many will attend could not be determined, but there will be a large attendance as usual.

A number have left already for the Indiana city and more will leave Sunday and early Monday. Harry Sherrick, who has just returned from a trip thru Indiana, stated that the roads are in fine condition and that the highways into Indianapolis were filled with cars from all parts of the United States traveling into the race city.

Interviews-- Ideas and Fancies

J. M. MADIGAN, 425 N. Washington-st.: "It is good news to me to hear that the Fair board is contemplating the purchase of land for a new Fair ground. This is something that is much needed. A fair is only as good as its plant and once a permanent home is secured, real development can be started. Other counties not as rich agriculturally as Allen-co, have fine fairs and once a well equipped home has been secured we can expect to see our county fair second to none."

MRS. LUAN BUTLER, 634 W. Spring-st.: "One of the most disgraceful acts I can imagine is the destruction of flower beds, in front of private homes, by those who pluck the flowers without asking permission of the owners. Beautiful flowers are something that everyone who sees them can enjoy and they do much to add beauty to any street, yet there are those who delight in destroying the beds for their own personal satisfaction. I certainly hope that such acts will cease."

CLAUDE ZARTMAN, Superintendent of Parks: "It's a mystery to me why the automobile tires which were found by my department were not returned for use on our cars. We need tires for our cars and if we could have had them more money would then have been made available for the work being carried on by our department. Just because we have a little of our appropriation left is no reason why the tires should be turned over to some department not so lucky."

JOHN HARLEY: "Bergdoll should be returned to this country. I don't know whether the seizure of his property will do any good or not. It is not primarily designed to cause his return. It is to be hoped that Germany will listen to reason and give up her government and at least force him to leave Germany. Once Bergdoll is in territory friendly to the United States his extradition will be an easy job. Anything that will hasten the bringing of this draft evader to justice will be welcomed."

THIS YEAR'S BRIDE WEARS AN Orange Blossom Engagement Ring

THESE are the Orange Blossom engagement rings, hand wrought, in platinum or gold. The one at the right is of platinum, the one at the left of gold or platinum.

From the day when the upper caste women of Egypt first symbolized their love by wearing a circlet, legend has spun romantic and fascinating stories around the wedding ring.

What more fitting than an engagement ring replete with sentiment and prophetic in the Orange Blossoms which are so exquisitely chased all around it. It comes fashioned in platinum for the bride who is to wear an Orange Blossom platinum wedding ring and in gold for one who chooses the gold wedding ring. Nothing could be in better taste than to have one's engagement and wedding rings alike in design, especially when the design is as beautifully expressive as these Orange Blossoms make it.

HEAVY FINE FOR ILLEGAL SALES

Garwick Had No License to Traffic in Cigarettes

COSTS HIM FINE OF $250

John Steinman Arrested on Lunacy Charge

ST. MARYS — (Special)—Cliff Garwick, owner of a cigar store and pool room in Columbus, was arraigned here Friday on a charge of selling cigarettes at wholesale without a license, was fined $25 and costs by Mayor G. M. Raudabaugh. Later Garwick was taken to Columbus to answer a charge on receiving and disposing of stolen goods. An automobile owned by the accused man remains here, pending the outcome of a civil suit filed by Richard Baird, who claims money due in business transactions with Garwick. Officer William Donahue stated that 20 more cartons of cigarettes, stolen at the Valley Junction near Columbus had been marketed here, at approximately $73 each. The regular wholesale price of a carton is $80. Donahue claimed that the cigarettes had been obtained by Garwick at an average cost of $30 per carton and that cigarettes marketed here were brought in at eight in automobiles. The officer claimed that tobacco and chewing gum was accepted in part payment, the goods being placed on sale in Columbus. It is claimed information was given to cigarette thieves by a railroad yard clerk.

More than $70,000 worth of cigarettes have been stolen at Valley Junction in the past two years, officers aver.

John Steinman, 57, Minster, is charged with lunacy, in an affidavit filed by a relative. Steinman was arrested here during the week by Police Chief Miller for an alleged statutory offense of a particularly sensational and revolting character. He was placed in charge of county officials.

Friends here have been notified of the arrival of twins, a boy and a girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barrington, St. Marys people at present located in Lima.

Patrick McGovern, a native of Ireland, a resident here since last December, left Friday for New York and will return to his native land.

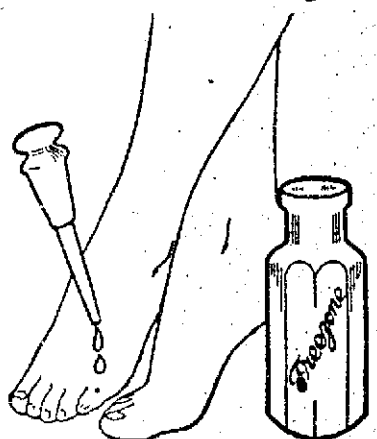

Drs. J. E. Heap and G. M. Raudabaugh, have been commissioned as captains in the medical and dental units, respectively, of the Ohio National Guard. The medical and dental units were organized recently when Company K of this city was made a headquarters company.

Catches of crappies and channel catfish at the reservoir here are reported very prolific.

CHECK FORGER AT DELPHOS

Stranger "Unloads" Fraudulent Paper For $72

MOUSE NEST OF GREENBACKS

Alleged Forged Checks Passed By a Woman

DELPHOS — (Special) — A stranger giving his name as C. P. Craig cashed a bogus check for $72 at the Rimer Davis pool room here on the Union Trust Co. of Cleveland. The check was signed by the Scott & Hart Stove & Furnace Company. Davis took the check to the bank and a query by the cashier on the Cleveland Trust Company proved the paper a fraud. The stranger, who had been in the city for several days, left soon after for Ft. Wayne, via the Ohio Electric.

The wife of a beet worker near Venedocia presented a check at a Jonestown grocery for $60, but the validity of the paper was questioned by the storekeeper and the sheriff called. The case is now being investigated.

Three checks totaling $135 were passed by her at Venedocia Thursday morning. All checks were drawn on an Ohio City bank. The woman is said to be about 30 years of age. She is the mother of six children and authorities suspect that someone else is implicated in writing the checks.

Joseph Fierstos, 72, pioneer resident of Ottoville and well-to-do retired farmer, died at his home in that village late Thursday, death being due to dropsy. He had been in poor health for several months and bedfast since Sunday.

Deceased was born in Alsace-Lorraine, coming to this country at the age of four years. He was married in Canton to Miss Gertrude Herman. Surviving are his wife and two foster children, George Fierstos and Mrs. Al Huysman, both of Ottoville. Funeral services will be held Monday morning from St. John's Catholic church.

While Plumbers were laying a gas line into the S. W. Kiser restaurant at Spencerville, they found in the corner a dark, greenish looking paper ball in one of the seldom used closets. Upon examination it was found to be the home of a mother mouse and her little ones.

Closer examinations showed the ball to be made up entirely of U. S. greenbacks. Most of the bills were chewed up fine, but four one-dollar certificates are not so mutilated but that they can be redeemed.

A cash register and a drawer in a wooden counter are used in the restaurant for holding the money. Mother mouse had found the bills in the drawer and had carried them a distance of 15 feet to where she made her nest. It is unknown just what the nest cost Kiser, the proprietor of the restaurant.

Receipts at elevators are many times greater than usual at this time of year, owing to the wet conditions prevailing in the fields, since farmers are using their time in producing. At one time Friday afternoon there were 11 loads of corn waiting their turn. More corn is being marketed than all other cereals combined.

THIRD BANDIT IS SENTENCED

Whitfield Tool of "Master Mind" in Wapak Holdup

ECHO OF WEBER ROBBERY

Lad Burned in Fire at Wenk Candy Store

WAPAKONETA. — (Special) —

A third member of the gang, that held up and robbed a bunch of poker players at the home of William Weber here in March has been sentenced. David Whitfield's case was disposed of Friday. He was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory for the part he played in the robbery when $7,000 in money and jewelry was secured.

It was thru confession by Whitfield that the others were arrested and part of the diamonds recovered. In Cleveland, Guy Tennent and "Boots" Karch, Celina men, were sentenced to the penitentiary. Whitfield claims he received only $200 of the loot. He is a young lad, hailing from the vice district of Chicago and was taken from the county jail here by officers to Cleveland for several days, while the diamonds were being traced.

Karch is accredited with having been the originator of the scheme to rob the Weber poker joint. He had played poker there previously and knew that with stakes high there were always large sums of money and many diamonds available, according to police.

Herbert Masonbrink, accused of having disposed of the diamonds, is still in jail here, but is expected to be taken to Cleveland and arraigned there on a charge of receiving and disposing of stolen property. Another man, also from Celina, connected with the robbery, is still at large.

Cletus Zofke, Harold Dille, Irvin Doering, William Gowdy, Kermit Zint, Richard Seitz, Walter Houtz and Byron Davis, will make a canoe trip to Lake Erie, via the Auglaize and Maumee rivers, starting June 9.

George Taylor, chief deputy clerk at the office of the probate court here, is an early riser, a sprinter and insists in going about without a hat. He runs to and from his home on W. Mechanic-st. and the sight of a hatless youth using the street as a marathon track aroused the interest and curiosity of citizens until they were acquainted with Taylor's hobbies.

The Heller estate frame building opposite the Western Ohio depot on Blackfoot-st was badly damaged by fire when a gasoline tank in a peanut roaster operated by Lute Wenk exploded Friday afternoon. Household goods owned by John Doty, above the Schumm tin shop, were damaged when the flames spread to that part of the building. Theodore Doty, a young lad, working at a corn popper in the Wenk candy store when the explosion occurred, was painfully burned.

John Kohler, a stranger, arrested at Cridersville recently, after beating up on Marshal DeLong, was found insane and was ordered committed to the Toledo state hospital, Friday. It is believed Kohler's home is in Chicago.

William Trautner of Lima was granted a divorce here Friday from Maud Trautner. Defendant is barred of dower in Lima real estate, but plaintiff must pay defendant $500 alimony within 30 days.

Third Yearly Anniversary

OF THE

J. C. Penney Co. Store

IN LIMA

Three years ago we came to Lima and told you at that time we had come to stay.

Every day during the three years we have been in your midst we have rendered J. C. PENNEY COMPANY 312 DEPARTMENT STORE SERVICE—STANDARD QUALITY MERCHANDISE FOR LESS MONEY. For this reason we have prospered. Folks have learned that our policies and plans, based on the Golden Rule in business, mean a fair, square deal at all times—and have shown their appreciation by coming to our store to trade.

As we stand at the threshold of our Fourth year in Lima, we look back with a feeling of great satisfaction at the many friends we have made and the service we have rendered. We want to assure you that the coming year will find us even more determined and better prepared to supply your wants with high grade merchandise at lowest prices.

We want to thank our friends at this time for their co-operation and kindness shown us during our voting contest on the Saturday night 6 o'clock closing movement.

We are not a member of the Retail Merchants Association and Our Store will remain open until 9 o'clock on Saturday evenings of each week as usual

Fictitious Values and High Prices are rapidly being replaced by Real Values based upon present replacement costs. We are proud of the fact that our 312 Stores were among the very first to lower our prices. You always get Real Values here at lower prices.

Take advantage now of the extremely low prices we are quoting on DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, SHOES, FURNISHINGS, LADIES' WEARING APPAREL, ETC.

HALT BUSINESS TO HONOR HEROES

Plans for Observance of Memorial Day, Monday.

J. B. CRABBE ORATOR OF DAY

Program at Memorial Hall During the Afternoon.

Lima will pay fitting tribute Monday to soldier dead of three wars in which the nation has taken part in 60 years.

Monday a detail of veterans will form at Memorial Hall at 8:45 o'clock and visit the various cemeteries near Lima, where graves of soldiers will be garlanded.

In the afternoon exercises will be held at 2:30 o'clock at Memorial hall. Hon. J. B. Crabbe, Columbus, will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "American Heroes." Music will be provided by the drum corps of Mart Armstrong post and the Junior Central High school chorus.

A patriotic drill will be given on the Elm-st side of Memorial hall by Elizabeth Turner Tent, Daughters of Veterans, at 2 o'clock.

LINE OF MARCH PLANNED
The line of march of the parade in the morning will be: From Memorial hall to Main-st; north on Main-st to North-st; west on North-st to Elizabeth-st, thence to Market-st and disband.

John A. Harley, grand marshal and his aides will lead the parade. Then will follow Lima police, the city band, school children carrying flags, members of American Legion and ex-service men, Spanish War Veterans, Daughters of American Revolution, Daughters and Sons of Veterans, Lima Moose drill team, Company C, of the Second Ohio Infantry, members of the Grand Army and Woman's Relief corps in automobiles, with the troop of cavalry bringing up the rear.

A salute to the dead will be given by a detail from the American Legion after the decoration of graves at Woodlawn cemetery. Services for unknown dead will be held by the Woman's Relief corps and Daughters of Veterans at the monument in Woodlawn. Flowers will be cast on the water at Woodlawn in memory of those buried at sea. "Taps" will be sounded at the close by a bugler from the American Legion.

Persons in the city owning automobiles are urged to donate them Monday morning for the parade. School children are also urged to bring flowers for decorating graves.

BUSINESS TO HALT
All city and county offices, banks and business houses of nearly every character will close their doors during the entire day. Only business of necessity, such as restaurants, hotels, drug stores and refreshment places will remain open. All industrial plants of the city will close down in all departments and office and shop workers alike will enjoy a day off. The public library will remain closed during the day.

While a few employees will be at work to handle incoming and out-bound mail, the post office will be practically closed during the entire day and there will be no delivery of mail made in either the business or residential districts. The schools of the city will close and many of the scholars will participate in observance of the day.

About the only city employees who will be on duty during the day are the police and fire departments, but they will take things as easy as circumstances permit.

While Lima in all solemnity will observe the sacred honor due those who have crossed the Great Divide, there are many to whom the day will mean one of pleasure.

Scores of automobile parties are planned, barring rain. Hundreds will spend the day visiting relatives or friends at a distance, and still others will take it easy around their homes or attend the movies or the ball game.

The fact that Sunday and a holiday come together will give many persons an opportunity to enjoy a short vacation.

EVENTS PLANNED BY Y. W. C. A.

Interest of members of the Y. W. C. A. centers in the track meet which will take place at the athletic field at City park, Monday at 2:30 p. m., under the auspices of the physical department of the Y. W. C. A. Vaughnsville, Wapakoneta and Bluffton will compete with the two local organizations, the "Jackies" and the "Independents." A loving cup will be presented the successful competitor.

Trotty Veck club will hold its dinner meeting at the Y. W. C. A. at 6 p. m.

Wednesday the regular noon day special will be served and at 1 p. m. the headquarters committee, Mrs. Amelia Schiewe, chairman, will meet. Thursday the hospitality committee, Mrs. Howard Fletcher, chairman, will hold open house from 2 to 5 p. m. for the pleasure of the officers of all the religious organizations of the city. Invitations have been issued and a special musical program will be given.

Toujours Prete club will hold its dinner meeting Wednesday.

Saturday the employment and rooms registry committee will meet their chairman, Mrs. Doretta Durbin at 4:30 p. m.

OVERALLS DELIVERED TO CELINA BY PLANE

CELINA — A bale of overalls weighing 180 pounds was received here by the J. A. Romer company by airplane from Portland, Ind. The overalls were ordered 11 a. m. and the consignment arrived at 4 p. m. at the Beougher field north of the city. The air trip was made in 24 minutes.

A ten-room office building is to be erected here by Dr. Gibbons. The contract will be let June 1st. The structure will be complete in every respect. C. V. Long of Lima is the architect.

Territory northwest of Celina is to be tested for oil. Kelly Bros. have started drilling on the Hoeine farm. Needly of Van Wert and Davis & Ferguson of Lima are also taking up leases.

You are cordially invited to attend a free lecture on Christian Science at Memorial Hall, Sunday, May 29th at 3 P. M.

WOMAN GOES ON BOARD JULY 1

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press.)—Miss Rose Mortality, of Cleveland, will be the first woman member of the state industrial commission of Ohio. She will take her place on this commission July 1, beginning a six year term at a salary of $5,000.

The appointment was announced Saturday by Governor Davis when he sent her name to the state senate for confirmation. The appointment was confirmed without opposition.

CHILD'S INFLUENCE REUNITES PARENTS

Their three-year-old son Frederick was the means of reuniting the lives of his parents, William E. Dearth, 25, metal polisher, Ada, and Mrs. Minnie Leona Dearth, 21, cigar-maker, 135 E. North-st, Lima.

The marriage took place Saturday. It was on February 12, 1921, that Mrs. Dearth instituted proceedings in divorce. The decree was granted on April 2. Mrs. Dearth charged neglect, declaring she was forced to work in a cigar factory to support herself and child.

NEW BOY FOR JAKE'S HOME
Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Haeg, Oakwood Park-pl, announce the arrival of a son, born Saturday at City Hospital.

ALL THE MONEY YOU HAVE CANNOT BUY TWO WORDS IN THESE COLUMNS

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

THIS has been a typical pre-holiday week in business. There has been nothing of a constructive nature, while the rise of money rates to seven and a half percent has retarded any forward movement which might have come in stocks and bonds.

Industry has gone back rather than advanced, based on trade reports. Crude oil was further depressed and over-production in the mid-continent is most apparent, despite the shooting in of wells. The railroad situation, on the contrary, is far more rosy, April statements showing most favorably. The decision of the railroad labor board is to be handed down during the coming week and is expected to show cuts of twenty per cent.

Locally, there is little change in the current rate of affairs. Money is still tight, with banks not seeking new business. Building and Loans just about maintain their rates, and savings are probably being slowly drawn upon by working classes, now on short schedules. Motor truck inquiries continue to increase. The steel trade remains in a slump and railroads are not buying locomotives. The cigar industry is nearer capacity than any other local manufacture.

Retail trade was fair, with good buying for the holiday. Mid-summer purchases are being extensively made by the feminine side of the house, while males are buying the summer wearables from straws to white shoes. Food prices show further but slight declines, and the building trades remain persistently dull.

IN COLUMBUS

THAT the breach between Governor Harry L. Davis and the State Senate of Ohio is not narrowing, but on the other hand is growing wider, appears apparent. There is no indication of anything positive in the form of an agreement on the final adjournment of the upper and lower Houses of the Legislature.

One of the disturbing features of the week was the protest that welled up at Cincinnati and from all over the state, after Governor Davis had pardoned Stephen Ponticos, who betrayed a 16-year-old girl who had been in his employ, having been sentenced to a year in prison and to pay a fine, which, served out, would have kept him imprisoned for six years. The Governor explained that Ponticos' business was being ruined; that there was doubt as to his guilt; that 700 representative citizens of Cincinnati had petitioned for his release.

Then the Governor went fishing, but the protest extended to Pelcoe Island and he hurried back home. His latest explanation is that Ponticos is suffering from pernicious anemia and that to keep him in jail would result in his death.

There is no indication that evidence or argument will be submitted in the Supreme Court when the two suits attacking the emergency clause of the reorganization code are heard on June 1, if Attorney General Price and Secretary of State Smith, Republicans, can have their way.

Answers filed by these officials in suits brought against them by State Democratic Chairman W. W. Durbin and State Senator J. P. Burke, of Elyria, Republican, claim that an emergency existed as described by the Legislature when the reorganization code was enacted. Price holds that the refusal of Smith to approve a form of referendum petition was proper. Price refused to approve a synopsis of the act to be mailed to each voter. He claims this does not prejudice the case of Durbin and Burke. The attorney general also objects to the introduction of evidence, asking that the case be decided on the statements contained in the plaintiffs' petition and the answers of the defendants.

William Jennings Bryan, as a speaker before the Jefferson club at Columbus on "Democracy's Opportunity," expressed the opinion that Democracy's chief hope for the future lies in the matter of taxation. It is there, he declared, that he expects to see a new leader in the party arise.

The Governor permitted three bills to become law without his signature. They are the Bing measure amending the compulsory education law, the proposal of Senator Chapplear requiring the keeping of birth records in probate court and the Atwood bill providing relief for contractors.

It is believed that one of the principal reasons why the State Senate does not want the Legislature to adjourn sine die, is the hope of repealing the state departmental reorganization bill in the event the Supreme Court declares invalid the emergency clause. While the measure passed the House by a solid Republican vote and the Senate with only one Republican against it, some of the Senators feel that it would do the Republican party grave harm to wage a referendum campaign over it.

If the emergency clause is knocked out, there will likely have to be a revamping of the appropriation bill, as it is based on the organized system of departments. This bill is effective July 1, the same time the organization bill is to be operative. The House contends that if a revamping of the finance bill should become necessary, Governor Davis should and would call a special session. It is pretty generally agreed among legislators that whether a referendum campaign is to be waged on the measure should be left to the Governor to decide.

IN WASHINGTON

DURING the last week the entire country was profoundly moved by incidents in connection with the arrival in New York of the bodies of 5,000 heroes of the war—American boys who gave their lives on the battlefields of Europe. President Warren G. Harding attended memorial services held at the great Hoboken piers and a sentiment he there expressed was echoed in the hearts of millions of his countrymen.

"It must not be again. We should be a nation so righteous and so just that we shall never be called upon to make war," was his prayer.

His heart touched by the enthusiastic greeting accorded him by 250,000 school children, the President's voice was husky as he spoke. At a luncheon of the Academy of Political Science, President Harding expounded the need of putting the government on a sound business basis and of reconstructing business and industry, even at the cost of offending "a certain class of politicians."

A feature of the week was the receipt of a communication by President Harding from Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, wife of the president of Stanford University, California, as president of the Woman's League for the Peace Treaty, protesting against Ambassador Harvey's speech in London recently regarding America's participation in an association of nations, as one of the President's pre-election promises. Harvey made it plain that America would have nothing to do with an association of any kind, whereas President Harding had promised it and on that score won the support of many who realize that America cannot hold herself altogether aloof from the remainder of the world.

Returning to Washington from New York, the President expressed confidence that his program of pruning the government payroll is backed by popular approval. He is intent also upon speeding up the reorganization now being mapped out by a special congressional committee, working under the direction of Walter Brown, of Toledo, personal representative of the President.

It is believed that James A. Forrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, will be named by the President as chairman of the Shipping Board. He also desires to appoint T. V. O'Connor, Buffalo, as a member of the board, but it is doubtful if the law will permit the naming of two men from the same state.

Notwithstanding the Supreme Court decision freeing Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, the Senate privileges and elections committee has decided to reopen the case and thoroughly investigate the charges that Newberry won his seat by extravagant and unlawful expenditure of money. The Supreme Court set aside the conviction of Newberry on the ground that the section of the law regulating senatorial primaries was unconstitutional. Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, was appointed a member of the special subcommittee to conduct the investigation.

The House voted an additional $200,000 for the enforcement of the Volstead act until July 1. In view of the fact that less than one-fourth of the House membership was present at the time the vote was taken, another can be demanded before the bill is passed. Prohibition Commissioner Kramer was sharply attacked by members for having created a deficit, altho $6,000,000 had already been appropriated for prohibition enforcement during the current fiscal year. Reinstatement of an army of dry sleuths is dependent upon the passage of the new appropriation.

President Harding plans to stimulate American industry by making the proceeds of foreign bond sales in the United States applicable to domestic product shipments. The President aims to keep U. S. cash at home. He has no intention of hindering or hampering business, he assures.

Evidence of the Senate's position on naval affairs was indicated when that body voted against plans for the establishment of a $1,500,000 Pacific coast naval base at Alameda, California, thus placing in the air plans for $100,000,000 appropriations for use on the western coast. Senator Borah's proposal of a conference between the United States, England and Japan on disarmament was adopted by a vote of 74 to 0.

While Herbert Hoover, accredited as one of the most able men in President Harding's cabinet, is exploiting the true American doctrine in the matter of free competition in international trade, equal opportunities and the open door, a majority of the members of Congress stand for the adoption of a national policy of exclusiveness that will stop the wheels of progress.

MEMORIAL DAY

THAT the world war has given depth to the measure of sentiment that moves the hearts and minds of men cannot be denied. This is particularly applicable to the annual recurrence of Memorial Day, when activity in the busy marts of trade halts and there is an observance of the day consecrated to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice; who laid down their lives that the nation might live.

Tomorrow is the annual day on which tribute is paid to the memory of those who died and also special honor is given those who, still in life, offered themselves in behalf of their country in our wars, the conflict of 1861-5, the Spanish-American war and the more recent world war. In many cemeteries rest the bodies of soldiers of 1812. These graves, too, are to be garlanded with flowers on Monday.

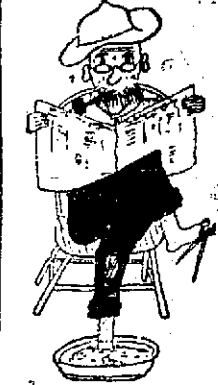

It is truly meet, fitting and proper, therefore, that we, altho a busy people, bent on national progress, striving for individual and collective economic advancement, should give this one day to recalling the deeds of those who fell in more stirring times in a cause that was right, for America never waged a war that was not in behalf of justice and humanity.

Since the days of '76, when the old Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, rang out the tidings, "Proclaim Liberty thruout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof," special patriotic occasions have appealed to Americans. America has not and never will forget the deeds of valor of her heroes. They are fresh in the hearts and minds of a grateful people, altho generations removed.

Tomorrow, as we lay flowers on the graves of the soldiers and sailors who died for humanity and America, we should have a special sense of appreciation of their courage, devotion, patience and self-sacrifice for the upbuilding of American ideals.

Thomas, about the most thrilling thing we could see on the screen would be husband and wife seated at the opposite ends of a sofa, hands neatly folded, and with their framed marriage certificate propped up between them. Doubtless the rules would require the sofa to be not less than six feet long, and the marriage certificate would have to be clearly legible at a distance of at least one hundred feet.

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

TEACH THEM THE FLAG

Teach the children of the Flag,
Let them know the joy it holds
In its sun-kissed rippling folds;
Don't let patriotism lag;
Train them so that they will love
Every star and stripe above.

As you teach their lips to pray,
Teach them always to be true
To the red, the white and blue;
Praise the Flag from day to day,
Tell the children at your knee
All the joys of liberty.

Let them know and understand
How the Flag was born and why,
Tell how brave men went to die
Gladly for their native land, Whisper to them that they must Make the Flag their sacred trust.

Love of country ever starts
In the home and at your knee,
There the Flag shall come to be Shrined in patriotic hearts;
They shall gladly serve their land
When they know and understand.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

TOILET OF THE TOOTHBRUSH

Dr. William Rice, dean of Tufts College Dental School, advises that the mother or nurse should begin brushing a child's teeth as soon as the child begins taking a mixed diet and even before this if there are evidences of accretions upon the surfaces of the teeth. He recommends a toothbrush small enough to pass between lip and cheek and the surfaces of the teeth, and with stiffly moderate bristles. The brush should be soaked in boiling water prior to first use. The brushing should not be so vigorous as to injure the gums. Dr. Rice says that experiments have shown that a toothbrush rinsed in water after use and then placed in a closed receptacle harbors many more bacteria than one similarly rinsed and then left hanging in the air to dry. He therefore advises that the brush be changed frequently.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

Both good and evil forces this day.

Under this rule of the stars and actresses should with success, and those interested in managing theatrical enterprises should benefit.

This is also a fortunate time for milliners and modistes, according to the stars, they will much business during the few weeks.

There is a prophecy that will be numerous accidents and fatalities at this time.

Women should be especially careful to avoid misunderstandings occurring while the stars in their present position. Persons whose birthday this will probably have an even year. Their business will prosper only if they pay strict attention to it.

Children born today will probably be fickle, and if employed will change positions frequently.

This is not a lucky day. Under this rule of the stars success and prosperity are promised to the clergy; there is indication that their words will meet with more favor than been true in the recent past. At this time it is better to than to do; however, one's should not be committed to er, or they may meet with fortune.

Under this rule of the stars, engagements are easily broken, love letters are likely to lead to misunderstandings.

Domestic harmony is likely to be marred by discontent and irritability at this time.

Persons whose birthday this should make no important changes during the coming year.

Children born today may be restless and inclined to seek cost.

WAITING FOR THE RIPPER CLIMAX

Legislature, Frightened, May Undo Its Work
MAY ELECT POSTMASTERS
Bryan's Panacea—Political Gossip for Week

(By J. W. FISHER)
Fearing the wrath that is imminent if they persist in permitting Governor Davis' ripper bill to go into actual operation on July 1, the Legislature, still finally unadvised for the year, is giving evidence of a desire to undo what it has done and then forget about it, hoping that the people generally will also forget.
Unless present plans fail, the supreme court of Ohio will be called upon to decide whether the reorganization bill is an emergency measure and whether it is to be permitted to go into effect without referendum by the people. This is the plan unless the Legislature is attacked by a case of frigid pedal extremities and undoes its own act, thereby removing the necessity of the courts and the people from doing it for them.
In a general way, the electorate of Ohio has been informed of the salient features of the Governor's "chee-ild," but its full "beauty" is hidden under the surface, to be brought out for dress parade only after its position is secure and the door is opened for Governor Davis to loose a flood of political appointments provided for by the terms of the measure, cleverly woven and a typical example of the saying: "What a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive."
The Governor's motives may be designed to advance the interests of the state, but there are few persons who are able to see it in that light. When it is considered that numerous Republican leaders have opposed the ripper bill from the very beginning, that all others that it isn't what it is represented to be. Each and everyone has agreed to his own opinion. When any of the most ardent of Republican, close friends of President Harding and United States Senator Francis B. Willis are against the Governor's pet measure, certainly there is a dark cloud individual stowed away somewhere in the product of the woodlot; in other words, there's a colored gentleman in the woodpile.
Some of the salient features of the bill sponsored by Governor Davis to tip up the state government, boards and commissions, exposed to the light of day, set Ohioans who love their state to thinking and thinking hard. The Davis reorganization bill will make the Governor all-powerful, at the head of one of the strongest political machines ever organized in the state of Ohio, say its enemies. Every officer and employee of the state will hold office "at the pleasure of the Governor."

Salary increases total many thousands of dollars and creation of new positions in any department is made possible at any time. Salaries to be paid will be determined by the Governor and the money paid from a fund of $1,000,000 appropriated by the Legislature.
Politics will permeate every department and activity of the state government. The board of administration, non-political in its every aspect, will become one of the biggest centers of political spoils in the state. The board has thousands of employees, has control of all state charitable, correctional and penal institutions and all state farms. Danger of prison pardons becoming a matter of political spoils with the revival of the old pardon brokerage abuses of years ago, which were changed after a long fight, may come again.
A backdoor entry is made into the administration of the workmen's compensation system. The rate making is taken away from the Industrial Commission and placed in the hands of a director. This, in "unfriendly hands," will break down the compensation system. The compensation fund of Ohio now has a total of nearly $30,000,000 in its treasury. Administration of state school affairs becomes a matter of partisan politics. Administration of the state highway department is radically changed. The budget for one year totals $95,000 more for salaries than under the previous administration. Removal of the bipartisan advisory board takes away all check on the expenditure of between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 of the state's money annually.
These things are charged to the reorganization measure that has been made the pet and hobby of Ohio's Governor. Government under reorganization will cost far more than the present form. It is further charged that the reorganization plan is not the result of a desire to improve Ohio's government; not the result of experience, but that its aim is to create a tremendous personal political machine that once installed, will defy popular rights without fear of reversal at the polls.
Opponents of the Davis measure who are seeking to sound an alarm so that all may hear and heed and profit, parade the fact that the Governor's record was such that in Cleveland, his home city, he ran 232,000 behind his ticket.
Summed up, the Davis reorganization bill will, if permitted to go into effect, destroy the work of years. Some of Ohio's biggest men, in both parties, have helped to take a large portion of the state government out of politics and to administer these departments thru non-partisan and non-political boards and commissions.
Contrary to charges in some quarters, the new bill does not increase the Governor's salary. The new Governor demanded a salary increase of $15,000 per year, making his salary $25,000, as one of the first acts of his Legislature.

In the light of the undeniable fact that members of the Legislature are seriously considering rescinding action on the reorganization measure, proof positive is afforded that a large majority of the lawmakers voted for the ripper against their better judgment, their conscience and their desire. But such is the urge of the party lash. Such is the power wielded by the executive over those who were elected to make the laws.
The supreme court must pass upon the question as to whether the "immediate peace, health and safety" of the people is threatened if this act does not go into effect on July 1. The eyes of all Ohio will be turned toward the chambers of Ohio's highest tribunal when the decision is given.
Lima and Allen-co people, Republicans and Democrats, men and women are watching—waiting. There is no fear that the government of the state of Ohio will be wrecked even if the Davis measure goes into effect, but the rank and file of the tax payers, knowing what it means in increased taxation, are interested.
In connection with the nomination of candidates for positions as members of the city commission under the new form of government to become effective in Lima on January 1, 1922, the work is simplified by the provision of forms made ready and in the hands of the board of deputy state supervisors of elections for Allen-co, that having control over the conduct of the primary and regular election of commissioners, in August and November, the same as in elections under the old form.
Nominating petitions must be in the hands of the board by July 9, to insure placing the names on the primary ticket. In the last election there were 17,775 voters registered in the city. Two per cent of this number, or 356, must sign nominating petition to make them valid. For the purpose of accommodating signers and simplifying the work of those circulating petitions, candidates may be nominated in blocks of five, but signers may not approve the candidacy of more than five persons. Each signer pledges himself or herself to support at the polls the candidates they recommend.
Another feature of the nominating petitions, which are provided with spaces for 114 signatures, is that the persons who are nominated may affix their signatures to the petitions, declaring their candidacy and agreeing to accept the office if nominated and elected, before the petitions are filed. Under the law they have five days after the filing of the petition to declare their candidacy, but since space is provided on the petition for the signatures of the candidates, it isn't likely that anyone would take the trouble to circulate a petition for another unless positively assured that those for whom they labor will accept the tender of nomination.
Signers of petitions must give their names in full, street and number, ward, precinct and the date of signature. Petitions must be filed 30 or more days in advance of the primary election. The nominating petitions are provided with form of oath to be signed by the parties filing them, certifying that they know the contents of the paper, that each signature is that of a person whose name it purports to be, that the signer is an elector in the city and has stated his name and address correctly and that he witnessed each person sign.

William Jennings Bryan may not have exactly the brand of panacea necessary to bring back into its wonted place the Democratic party, but he feels that "if anyone can preach the gospel of hope it is the man who has been resurrected so many times that death seems commonplace." That's the way William J. put it to his presence at the outing of the Jefferson club at Columbus, speaking on "Democracy's Opportunity."
Bryan mentioned five mediums, now occupying the public mind, thru which the Democratic party might rise to success. In point of order named they are a national bulletin "for the dissemination of unbiased political news and of party opinions; prohibition, reduction of taxes, a proper aligning of monopolies and disarmament as a feature of future world peace."
Despite the fact that the national Democratic convention in San Francisco a year ago couldn't see the necessity of Bryan's "national bulletin" idea, he is still advocating it. As to prohibition, political parties will probably be forever divided on that question. It is easy to agree with William that reduction of taxes will give the Bourbon party a long pull, since the promises made by the present national and state administrations have borne no fruit. In fact, in Ohio, taxes continue to mount, despite promises made that they would be reduced.
As to monopolies, the man who piloted the Democratic party to defeat three times and helped do it a fourth time, believes that where there is any excuse for a monopoly it should be taken over by the government. Plutocracy, William of Nebraska feels, is a breeding place of revolution. He believes that America should stand for disarmament by agreement if possible and by example if necessary.
Bryan's chief hope for the future of the Democratic party lies in the direction of taxation. He expects to see a new leader in the party rise out of the maze of the taxation problem. Bill can't get over the idea that Ohio is in the clutches of a set of rum boosters, brewers and distillers and expressed the hope that people of the Buckeye state will cut loose from that element.
That all is not lovely in the G. O. P. camp over in Auglaize-co is indicated by the stories that are being bruited about concerning the next try for the mayoralty chair. Elmer E. Newcomer, former city auditor, landed in the main chair in the Wapakoneta city hall on the wave of after-the-war sentiment and has been dividing his time between looking after affairs of the city and stamping tickets at the Western Ohio interurban station in that city.
At the same time Dr. W. S. Stuckey, accredited with being the Republican boss in little old Wapak and chief aide to Charley Herbst, the "master mind of political expediency," affecting the entire county, was elected president of the city council. Then, in the election in the fall of 1920, the Dr. was handed the position of county coroner, by the voters. Doc always wanted to be mayor of Wapak and in earlier days tried it a few times but failed.

Something has gone wrong with the organization and it is said quite plainly, out loud like, that Newcomer, otherwise known as "Pickles," is to be side-tracked and not accorded the opportunity of grabbing off a second term. Rumor has it that Dr. Stuckey is to be the G. O. P. choice on primary election day for chief executive.
Political affairs are all awry in Wapakoneta, as well as in most quarters of the country, since the folks who used to chase the political bee persistently day and night have arrived at the conclusion there are other things in life worth quite as much or more. Official positions are not so desirable as they used to be in the good old days, when they were looked upon as sinecures. Higher costs of things and little increase in salaries has played hob with political holdouts. They're not much in demand.
Latest advice from over Wapak-way are that both the old parties are finding it difficult to scare up a sufficient number of aspirants to fill the lists for primary election day. The board of elections is waiting for petitions that must be on file by June 9, but it looks like the nominations will be eleventh hour affairs, as usual. View it as you like, you'll have to admit that there isn't now as much interest in politics as in other days.
Faith without works is a dead duck. Political promises that fail of fulfillment are about as valuable and as much to be desired as a palm leaf fan in the arctic zone or a suit of furs for a South Sea Islander. General recognition of this fact doesn't seem to be worrying the all-Republican Legislature of Ohio—not in the least.
Promises are fleeting things, pushed forward mostly for the purpose of winning votes at election time and then as quickly forgotten by the little promoters, who also hope that their constituency will purge their memory of what they were told—when votes were needed. The prophecy made during the opening days of the Legislature that nothing satisfactory would be accomplished in taxation legislation has been realized abundantly. That body has, thus far, simply "passed the buck."
High sounding phrases were heard before the election in 1920 concerning reckless waste of the people's money by the party then in power, with a solemn promise by the G. O. P. hopefuls that they would, if given the opportunity, show those "ducks" how to get along in this state with less money demanded from the taxpayers.
But did they do it? Not much! They've forgotten all about lower taxes, while voting measures that could only increase the burden on the tax weary. After Governor Davis got his reorganization bill thru, his concern ceased and he packed up for a fishing trip, after making a pleasure trip up and down and across the state in a touring car, giving out the information that he was inspecting highways. His fishing trip was rudely interfered with by a demand from Cincinnati that he explain why he pardoned a foreigner who had wronged a young girl. The Governor states that he pardoned Ponticos because he was suffering from pernicious anemia and that he was released to save his life.

But, as to taxation, two years ago a Republican Legislature blamed its inability to pass a satisfactory tax bill onto a Democratic Governor. They got away with it, too. Now, with all the state machinery at their command, failure is an admission of inability.
Trust Charley Thompson, formerly of Wapakoneta, but later of Defiance and Congressman from the fifth district, to devise a plan and method whereby he might be able to "pass the buck" himself and help others of his compatriots in the lower house of the national lawmaking body to do the same thing.
Charley is an undying enemy of the civil service system of selecting postmasters and is backing a bill providing for the election of postmasters by the people of the communities they are to serve. Thompson is a close friend of President Harding, but he believes the chief executive has gotten away on the wrong foot in his order requiring civil service examinations to fill postoffice vacancies.
He lays at the door of Postmaster General Will Hays responsibility for the Presidential order. If Thompson could have his way about it, Hays would be removed from office instantly. The Defiance Congressman is willing to have civil service rules apply to clerks and subordinate postoffice employees, but to postmasters, never!
Thompson would even be satisfied if the President would name postmasters after consulting United States Senators and Representatives. However, if that plan is to be discarded, he is in favor of leaving it to a direct choice of the people, in an election. Thompson charges that civil service for the selection of postmasters will prove the biggest fraud ever perpetrated on the country, holding that the postmaster is closer to the people than any other government official; that it is preposterous to suppose that the right man can be found by holding an examination.
"A nut or a boob might pass an examination, but prove an utter failure as postmaster," Thompson says.
In passing, it might be observed that, from knowledge at hand, Colonel Gale, the most likely looking aspirant for the Lima office, probably feels that Congressman Thompson is presenting a "nut" idea in suggesting an election. When political bosses, or would-be bosses, seek something for themselves, they don't like the election route. It's too blamed uncertain.

Will President Harding be drawn into the Ohio G. O. P. muddle? Not likely! United States Senator Francis Barlow, Willis and Attorney General Harry Daugherty will see to it that he isn't. And as the sailor likes to put it: "You can lay to that!"
War between Governor Harry L. Davis and the state Senate is of a character so acute that it's simply dynamite. Willis and Daugherty, recognizing this fact, have urged the President to keep hands off and let the Ohio warring elements war it out. This, even in the face of the fact that there is danger of injury to the party as a whole in the Buckeye state, which may extend to other commonwealths as a backfire or backwash. All of which means that President Harding would like to have no thorns laid in his path for re-election.
William E. Halley, clerk of the Ohio Senate and probably nearer to the President than any other man in Ohio, hurried to Washington to consult with Willis and Daugherty in the crisis. Halley believes that interference on the part of Harding, Daugherty or Willis would result in a worse muddle than ever and place power in the hands of Governor Davis they wish to keep him out of. Halley is a close political friend of Willis and Daugherty and although the latter are not in harmony with the Davis administration, they are not altogether convinced that the Republican leaders of the Senate have not blundered.
Recognizing that there is danger in it, Willis and Daugherty are loathe to "butt in." They are hoping almost against hope that time may bring about an amicable adjustment of the situation and they realize that if the President should get his fingers in the mess it would be a mistake.

messages they send back this way. Oh, boy!

Here's a question to which we should like to have an answer. Do the austere, conscientious and high-minded justices of the Ohio Supreme court refer to the reorganization code as a "ripper" bill in the inner sanctums to which mere mortals cannot penetrate? If we had an answer to this query we could lay a successful wager on the outcome of the suit which is to be heard Tuesday to determine the fate of the emergency clause. Without definite information, we shall hazard the guess that the court wants to dispose of the issue on its merits, the dilatory tactics of the Attorney General's department to the contrary notwithstanding. If the same course were pursued in a justice court, the matter would be termed pettifoggery, but since it is in the highest tribunal in the state, the answer to it is that it's something else. Name it yourself. One interesting point was that Hon. Harvey G. Smith, in whose name the answer was filed, did not approve of the tactics and a census of real conscientious opinion in the office of the Attorney General himself probably would show that the staff is not highly enthusiastic about the methods employed. It is unusual for the office and probably not in a dozen years has there been anything like it. Does one think that either Timothy S. Hogan, Edward C. Turner or Joseph McGhee would take the first signs of flirtation with the "ripper" adjudication of a very weighty issue and then find some excuse for not wishing to present it on the merits. Well, if you think so, think again. That's all.

"He's the same old Bill Bryan." That was the voice of an old enthusiast of the old W. J. B. school who has not yet been able to get it out of the blood when the Commonwealth came here last Monday. Well, it was the same old Bryan with a new crop of nostrum, all his own. There is the government newspaper, for one, and his scheme of disarrangement for another. Know his plan? It's marvelously simple as he explained to 250 Ohioans—count 'em—just try to negotiate and if the others will not, why then do it by example. Never mind that others may be sharpening pencils to figure the indemnity while we are scrapping the army and the navy. That is a mere detail. And then the Commonwealth is troubled by the "strangest misunderstanding about the leadership of the Democratic party." Well, there may be such, but the old commander made no noise like a leader on that sultry day. There may be a lot of folks who do not know who the leader is, but, by Jingo, they know who it isn't and they know it good and well. The dear old fellow is distressed by the party's record in the past on prohibition, but on that very day he was not a whit troubled by the deliberate plot of those who suffered the appropriations to fall. At that, the party that was given for Mr. Bryan was a success, after a fashion. He did the job he was sent for to do and James A. White was there to see that he did it.

It is well to reduce matters to simple terms as a writer attempts to do in the contest between Governor Harry L. Davis and the Ohio Senate over the matter of final adjournment. Says one scribe: "The facts are: United States Attorney General H. M. Daugherty wants to run for United States Senator next year—at least his followers think so. Governor Davis also wants the senatorial toga. A bitter factional fight is developing between the adherents of these two men. The Daugherty crowd controls the State Senate. The State Senate has a right to confirm or reject the eight men whom Davis will shortly appoint to form his 'cabinet.' Davis wants to get rid of the Senate so the Daugherty fellows can't dictate these appointments to him. The Daugherty crowd wants to keep the Senate in session so they can make political trouble for Davis. While they strive for political advantage, the taxpayers of Ohio foot the heavy expense incident to keeping the legislature in session." All of which is delightfully simple and understandable but its very simplicity would condemn it for Hon. William E. Haller, the good-natured clerk and undisputed boss, never would admit the explanation to be true. Not in a million years.

While we are on the subject let mention be made of the fact that the Daugherty-Bailey crowd are inwardly raging every time they think of Hon. C. C. Crabbe or Madison E. Speaker pro tem of the House of Representatives. Crabbe was chosen to the position by their votes. They could have picked up another, but they thought that Crabbe could be depended upon. When they saw the first signs of flirtation with the "ripper," which means Governor Davis, they closed their eyes and excused him on the ground of general party regularity and a supposed desire to maintain an attitude of fairness. But when he went over board, boots and breeches to the other side and began to fire embarrassing adjournment resolutions at the Senate, how they raved! The Hon. Crabbe can set it down that he will have good and stiff opposition for the Republican nomination for Attorney General if a candidate has to be drafted.

There is one sure way to make highway building unpopular in Ohio. Ask all the highway interests seem to favor it. This is the starting of methods for transfer of the money voted by the people to build rail roads, into the pockets of favorites for the things that do the highways a minimum of good. In our humble estimation, one of these things is really at the bottom of this coal tar fuss. Why is it that coal tar has kept its high price while other materials have fallen? Why is it that there is nervousness and an attack of ridgets every time the matter is mentioned? Why is it that in some counties there are no bids for coal tar, but it is purchased with reference to bids? Why is it that on all other material there is competition, while coal tar gets the business without this little formality? There are other materials that ought to be questioned in addition to coal tar. These are the patented articles let there be a real investigation of these matters. Heaven forbid that a suffering state may ever again be afflicted with a Hopley highway investigating committee. It has not earned its salt.

Not in some years will a tax case be contested with the vigor that is to be injected into the suit to restrain the collection of the tax of ten cents a share annually on non-value common stock. Some hundreds of thousands of dollars are tied up in this litigation and the issue discloses how carelessly legislation is enacted. The General Assembly fixed ten cents a share each year as the tax under what corresponds to the old Willis law. This was done without reference to what the shares really represent. Looking at the problem broadly, it is easy to see why the tax will be fought. The tax on par value stock is three-twentieths of one per cent. Thus on a $50,000 corporation the tax is $75. If the shares represent $10 each, or in other words, 5,000 shares, the tax would be $500, which is nearly seven times the tax levied on the other kind of corporations.

There is a listlessness about corporation reports to the Ohio Tax Commission this year which is unusual.

usual. In previous years when all companies were up to their ears in work they managed to get in their reports with great promptness and the commission did not have to issue warnings or anything. But this year only a small percentage have reported and everyone knows that many of the managers have plenty of time on their hands; time when they can just sit and think and think. But they are dilatory in making out their reports, hence the commission has to beg and even threaten them to hasten the reports.

Paper savings are often more impressive in government than real ones. For example, take the case of the Hartman hotel building which has been leased for a state office building. The lease will cost $18,000 and as the state is paying $80,000 a year for outside rentals, the assertion is made that it is a net saving of $62,000. It's nothing of the kind. The expenses of moving several departments, plus janitor service, plus light and heat and plus other things will be close to $30,000 for the first year so that the savings is to be cut in two. If any remodeling is necessary, the savings may be even less than that. This is not attempt to frown on what may be a good deal, at that, but oh, for a little plain truth on public affairs—

This is what an Ohio editor, C. D. Simeral, of Steubenville, has to say about the prosecution of Truman H. Newberry of Michigan: "The net result of the prosecution of Senator Newberry by the former administration has been to deprive the state of Michigan of half its representation in the Senate for over two years and to deny the people of the whole country the benefit of the wisdom and mature experience of a very able man. The final quashing of the conspiracy against Newberry is another long step to the nation's return to normalcy."

Now the only interest this old crusader for purity can see in this statement is that it reveals the interesting fact that there are men in Ohio who are glad that the barrel candidate got away on a legal technicality, but is the gentleman looking for a candidate like him in Ohio, employing Newberry methods? Let him say so.

Sweep and Weep or Clean and Smile

We'll guarantee that no woman likes to work in a dust storm. It used to almost make us weep. So we don't do it now. We don't sweep at all. We clean and enjoy fresh air while doing it. Sweeping—broom sweeping—spoiled our curtains and made endless work for the duster. Cleaning—Western Electric Vacuum Cleaning—is done in no time and done satisfactorily. No dust from a sweeping storm left on the furniture. No double work. For less than $2.50 a year for electricity we do our cleaning. The cost and the ease and the results make us smile. "Phone Main 2631 and we'll send you a Western Electric Vacuum Cleaner.

RUGS

The sweeping broom gathers no dirt. It merely stirs it into commotion. The vacuum cleaner suction dry air and removes only dry dirt. Soap and water well worked in removes dirt, smut and stains that the cleaner leaves. When we take the rugs and carpets out of your home, we take with them all the dirt, dust, grease spots and health-menacing germs—and bring none of them back. If you want your floor coverings thoroughly cleaned without injury and quickly returned let us do the work.

TWO MANAGERS ARE PUSHING HEILMAN HARD FOR BATTING HONORS

Managing a ball club seems to be conducive to heavy hitting for Ty Cobb, pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, are giving Harry Heilman, of Detroit, a terrific fight for the batting leadership of the American league.

Cobb boosted his mark from .395 last week to .411 for this week, according to averages released today and which included games of last Wednesday, while Speaker raised his last week's average of .373 to .408. Heilman, altho he suffered a batting slump is fourteen points ahead of Cobb. Heilman's average is .425 as compared with .454 a week ago.

Severid, of St. Louis, also has come to the front in grand style. The slugging catcher of the Browns, who was hitting .309 a week ago, has attained a mark of .381 and is in fourth place.

Babe Ruth, the king of home run hitters, ran into a slump when the Yankees hit the western trail of the circuit. His batting averages dropped from .378 to .345. The big slugger failed to get any four baggers while in Chicago but in the final game at St. Louis Wednesday, he cracked out a drive which was said to be the longest made at the Brown's park, and brought his total string of home runs up to thirteen. Shocker was pitching.

HARRIS, CHIEF PURLOINER

Harris, of Washington, stole two bases while the Senators were touring the west and is showing the way to the base stealers with ten thefts.

Other leading batters for 20 or more games: Broer, Washington, .378; Sisler, St. Louis, .375; Tobin, St. Louis, .375; Stephenson, Cleveland, .363; Williams, St. Louis, .353; Ruth New York, .345.

Grimes of the Chicago Cubs, who filling Merkle's shoes at first base, struck his batting stride during his first invasion of the east and climbed from fifteenth place to a fifth, in the National League batting race. Most of last week's leaders went into a slump, Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, dropping from .457 to .435. However, he is safely entrenched at the top of the batters of the National league who have participated in 20 or more games. Snyder, New York catcher, is runner-up to Hornsby with an average of .365, while McHenry, of St. Louis, who was in seventh place a week ago, is batting .360 and is in third position. Maranville, of Pittsburgh, who threatened to dethrone the St. Louis star a week ago, dropped to fourth place with .359. Grimes, who a week ago hit .328, is pushing "Rabbit" with .355.

Has Georges Ability To Withstand Our Jack's Punishment?

By JIM BURBA

AS the titular battle between Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and Georges Carpentier, champion of France, draws nearer, there is, of course, an increase in enthusiasm. Fight fans everywhere are speculating upon the chances of the Frenchman. Here and there one finds a fan who believes in the ability of Carpentier, but the majority of dwellers in Boxiana favor the present title holder. Fight fans in Lima are no different from the others.

Just a couple of days ago we were asked our opinion regarding Carpentier's ability to withstand punishment. It's a peculiar question, and has proven food for plenty of thought. While it is an admitted fact that Carpentier is capable of receiving quite a bit of punishment, we do not believe he is capable of taking the punishment that Dempsey has been handing around. Carpentier isn't the rugged fighter that we picture heavyweights to be. He's frail as compared with the great heavies of the past. 'Tis true that the Frenchman is capable of weathering the average storm, but as compared to these, Dempsey has proven himself a hurricane. Anyone who saw the Toledo fight will agree with us in that assertion.

Carpentier, we believe, is a better boxer than Dempsey. Because of that, he has the advantage on the champ in long range battling. The fact that he is faster than Dempsey gives him a certain advantage in this distant fighting. When you say these things you say about all that can be said. Dempsey, it has been proven, is by far the hardest hitter of the two, and he's got the Frenchman far outclassed when it comes to in-fighting. And it's a pretty safe bet that Dempsey is going to force Georges to show his ability, at in-fighting.

We believe that Dempsey will wage a fast and terrific battle from the start as he did in Toledo. Also in our opinion, Jack will try for Carpentier's mid-ships, as it were. In other words, he will lead his first attack against the Frenchman's body. Unless Georges can stand him off with an impregnable barricade, it's the sweet dreams for the hope of France.

Those who have seen Dempsey fight know his style. Carpentier perhaps knows it too. Willard did, or should have. But indications are that Willard either disregarded Dempsey's style of fighting, or imagined the Utah heavy would change his style against a "real opponent," as Willard styled himself. But Jack didn't change his style. When the old gong sounded, Jack was up and at 'im. What happened is history.

No one should be surprised if the Jersey City battle is a sort of a repetition of the Toledo, for we believe that Dempsey realizing that he is facing the cleverest boxer of his career, will endeavor to waste thru the Frenchman's barricade in the opening seconds. Just one other thing that leads us to believe that Dempsey will start early. Never in his ring career has Dempsey assumed the defensive. He has been a consistent offensive fighter thruout. He knows nothing else, and because of his many victories via the kayo route, he doesn't care to learn any other method.

WONDER WHAT DEPALMA WILL DO THIS TIME?

With all due respect for Ralph DePalma, and without seeking to raise the hammer against so clever a race driver, we are wondering just what his alibi will be if he fails to capture the 500-mile speedway event at Indianapolis. Personally, we haven't a thing against DePalma; rather, we like him; but one hears of his "jinx" in so many races that one becomes bored. Because he has a good alibi, he certainly can't be blamed, but why should this alibi be shouted so loud that it detracts from the fame of the driver or beat DePalma.

For an example, Jimmy Murphy recently won the Los Angeles road race. He piloted a car of ordinary type using ordinary tires. Yet, he went the entire route without tire trouble, or a change. DePalma's car caught fire, and there immediately arose the alibi; the cry of the jinx, and all about "DePalma, the hard luck driver."

DePalma besides being an exceedingly clever driver, is a wonderful mechanic. These combined with the fact that he, as a rule, drives the best car in the event, is his ace in the hole. We'll bet a plugged dime against the hole in the doughnut that Jimmy Murphy or Tommy Milton, given him, will run rings around him.

So here's hoping that if DePalma does have hard luck Monday, the winner of the race will be mentioned before Ralph's hard luck story is. In fact we are in favor of DePalma's hard luck being like the groom, just mentioned at the bottom, that's all.

HALLORAN TRIES HARD

Local baseball fans have been rather loud in their complaints against Bernie Halloran, president-manager of the Lima Independents because a couple punk ball games have been staged here in as many weeks. We admit the games were punk, and we are not endeavoring to alibi for Halloran. But, let us say right here, that Halloran, to our knowledge is endeavoring to give Lima fans the best that the minor and independent ranks afford. Because these two games were rotten is no fault of Halloran's.

Poor games are noticed here more than they are in a league city because the periods between games here are long. In a league city one sees a rotten game today, and maybe a good game the next day and the bad taste is gone. Here one sees a rotten game this Sunday, and the taste lingers with him for one week, because he doesn't see another game for that length of time.

It is impossible for the local management to see every game its scheduled opposition plays. Halloran, like any other manager, is led by the records. If the record is good he naturally supposes the team must be good. Anyone would do the same.

Here's another thing—it Halloran placed a mediocre team in the field here to make the game against weak teams good, local fans would crank about the poor team here. So the best thing he can do is place a good team locally, and endeavor to bring fast teams here to give fans an opportunity to see a fast game.

OLD TIMER TO TRY FOR COMEBACK AT WAPAK

WAPAKONETA.—Can an old-time base ball pitcher come back? "Whitey" Guese, nearer 50 years of age than 40, for years one of the star slah artists in the Southern League and who reported for duty with the Cincinnati Reds in his "palm" days, is the latest aspirant in the list of those who feel they are able to again perform the stunts that were easy in their youth, altho the hand of time has dimmed the eyes, stiffened the muscle and diminished the pep.

Guese comes from a family of base ball players. After no longer being able to pitch in league form, he was engaged on the sand lot here to fool the yokel club swingers with his heaves and slants and it quite well. But that was in years ago, when men who now are attracted by the lure of the diamond were howling demons of enthusiasm along rooters' row.

STILL HAS FAITH.

But Guese hasn't lost faith in himself, despite his age. As umpire in a game at K. K. park here

Sunday when the Reds, trimmed the Coldwater clubsters, the call of the diamond came back to him. He believes he can "set 'em down" just like he used to do it in the halcyon days of his youth, when he thought nothing of pitching two nine inning games the same day and then sawing and splitting a cord of wood, just for good measure to round out the day.

He will have the opportunity to try it. The management of the Reds feel that Fulwiler, Dayton heaver, sets the box office receipts back too far in the satisfaction of his demands for remuneration for an afternoon of pastime and there is a disposition on the part of the resuscitated baseball organization here to give "Whitey" another chance. Guese will work on the slab for the Wapak Reds in the game with New Bremen here Sunday.

This arrangement is the surprise of the season locally. It's sufficient to attract to the ball park many who haven't been there since Guese used to "eat 'em alive."

Slugfest Taken By Champion Indians

ST. LOUIS—Altho outhit by a small margin, the Champion Indians raced home with Saturday's game against the St. Louis Browns by a 12 to 6 score. Mails worked for the Indians, and allowed the Browns 14 hits. The Champs gained an even dozen safeties off the deliveries of Bayne, Boland, Richmond and Van Gilder. The two teams together used 27 players.

Earl Smith was the hitting hero of the Fohlman, cracking out three hits in four trips to the plate. One blow went for a non-stop circuit of the bases, while another was crashed for a triple. Doc Johnston, Indians' first secker, has his optic upon the ball also. Doc toed the plate, and each time he ripped out a safety, one crack going for a double.

Pirates To Protest Game Won By Reds

PITTSBURG—The fence busting Pirates were beaten by the Cincinnati Reds in an extra inning struggle which will be protested by Manager George Gibson. Decision at the plate by Umpire Brennan in the eighth inning when the Pirates tied the score, brought a howl from the stands and wild antics on the part of Pitcher Luque. During the excitement the ball rolled into the Red dugout and Barnhart stole second. He was, however, tagged out at third. Pittsburg claims that a Cincinnati player on the bench tossed the ball to the third baseman.

Rube Marquard relieved Luque in the ninth inning. When the Rube came to bat in the tenth he tapped a fluke hit to right and scored the winning run.

Carlson Bigbee, Pirate outfielder, who had an arm injured recently, entered the game as a pinch hitter. Glazner started the game for the leading Pirates but was relieved by Babe Adams in the late stages.

Tad's Tid Bits

Two of the greatest boosters that Jack Dempsey had, have lately switched and gone over to the side of Georges Carpentier.

Jack Curley was the first man that the writer ever heard boast the present champion.

That was several years ago. We were standing on the corner of Broadway and Forty-second street, and Jack was quite hopped up on Dempsey.

"You never saw a fighter like him in your life," said Curley, who had just seen Dempsey beat Carl Morris in Buffalo. "You'll admit that I've seen some good ones, won't you?"

Then the writer said to him: "Well, I never saw one like Dempsey. You can't stop him and he can hit the way dynamite bucks. He took my Carl Morris and almost killed him. Morris didn't budge him and he hit Dempsey with everything he had. This fellow will knock Fulton out before the sixth round if they ever fight."

The writer at that time had never seen Dempsey, but was a great believer in Fulton, and right there bet Mr. Curley a new $15 skimmer on Fulton if over a Dempsey-Fulton match came off. Jack won in a punch.

Well, so much for that. Yesterday we ran across Mr. Curley in Great Neck and asked him about the coming fight.

"Put me down for Carpentier," said Jack with a grin. "I know I used to like Dempsey. I liked him a lot, but when a better man comes along my money goes with him. Carpentier will startle the world the day he meets Dempsey. There'll be a new champion."

"Yes, for the first time in the history of boxing a foreigner will be the heavyweight champion of the world."

HARK TO MR. BRADY

Now we turn the page over and come to Mr. William A. Brady. You will remember that Mr. Brady was manager of Jim Corbett when James beat Sullivan. He took the short end of that fight and cleaned up.

At Toledo he took the Dempsey end against Willard and raked in once more. He figured Dempsey a cinch and his money said so, too.

But now, right now, he has left the champion flat and gone to the side of the Frenchman.

SAYS MR. BRADY

"Dempsey isn't the man he was when he beat Willard at Toledo. He has had but two fights in two years and that is not enough. He has slowed up considerably. He showed that in his battle with Brennan at Madison Square Garden. He wasn't one-third the man that night that he was in Toledo. He has never met a really good man and never faced one the equal of Carpentier. The Frenchman will beat him just as Corbett beat Sullivan. He's too fast and knows much more about fighting than the heavy hitting Dempsey. Carpentier is the greatest glove man since the days of Corbett."

UP WITH NAPKINS, HERE COMES SOUP

A western exchange prints the following:

"The Pons-Winnecke's comet will be within speaking distance of San Francisco on June 7. It was announced today by Director A. O. Leuschner of the University of California."

At that time, says Leuschner, the comet will be nearly 12,000,000 miles from the earth, and is at present 37,000,000 miles away. Astronomers say that on June 27 inhabitants of the earth may expect a meteoric shower.

THEN FIVE DAYS LATER WE WILL SEE A LEADEN SHOWER AT RICKARD'S PARTY IN JERSEY CITY

AND LOTS OF 'EM

Bob Skelton, the national champion 440-yard breast-stroke swimmer, is on a visit to San Francisco. One of the papers prints this headline:

"SKELETON SURPRISED AT SIZE OF TANKS IN SAN FRANCISCO."

Huh, he oughta see the tanks we have seen in New York. Thousands of 'em, and all dry as hay bins.

DONLIX LIKES JOHNNY MITCHELL

Sitting in the press stand at the Polo Grounds last week, Mike Donlin, once murderous man, now eminent Thespian, whispered to John Tonjes:

"There's a first division team sitting there on the Yankee's bench when the regulars are on the field. They've got a million dollars' worth of talent. I think Baker's hat is a fortune, and Johnny Mitchell, the shortstop they got from the coast, is a house offer."

"Mitchell can't bust into the game yet, but wait until he does. He'll be the sensation of the league."

GREATEST SIX-DAY RIDER

"Adding them all up and having point for point," says Joe Fogler, "I guess the greatest six-day rider that ever lived was Jimmy Moran, of Chelsea, Mass. Say, that fellow could have ridden for three days alone if he'd let him. I was his partner once and after he had ridden ten hours I came out to relieve him. He took one nap at me waiting there on the track side and yelled: 'Whatcha looking so sore about? Who asked you to come out, anyway? Go back to bed. I want to grab a lap ALL ALONE.'"

Joe says the saddest day of Moran's life was during a six-day ride in Berlin. Moran had been ill the first four days of the race, but on the fifth came around O. K. and ordered a tenderloin steak for himself that was three inches thick.

"You know he always left his teeth with the trainer while he was riding," piped Joe, "and this day at six o'clock, when he was dated up with the steak, he got off the wheel, smelted the steak and let out a roar like a lion for his tacks and his trainer."

"It happened, however, that the old trainer had a date with a swell tylist and didn't show up until midnight. Moran had to give the steak to another guy and play the old must and milk himself."

Reformers seem to find it easier to acquire a reputation than to earn a honest living.

FAST FANS CLAIM MONDAY AS THEIR DAY

LIMA FANS WHO ARE UNABLE TO SEE INDIANAPOLIS RACE WILL HAVE DIRT TRACK EVENT HERE

EXCITEMENT SHOULD PREVAIL AT LOCAL RACE

Excitement aplenty is in store for motorcycle race fans when riders from all parts of the middle west compete in the events at the Lima Driving park tomorrow afternoon.

The races here are being put on under auspices of the Lima Cycle club and are being promoted by Charles Rousculp, proprietor of the Lima Cycle company, W. High-st. Rules of the Motorcycle and Allied Trade associations will govern all events, with E. C. Smith, of Columbus, state referee, in direct charge of the races.

Local interest is centered on "Chuck" Smith, of this city, who is entered to ride an Indian Powerplus in the solo events. Smith is a daring rider and came to Lima early last fall after an accident he encountered during a race at South Bend, Ind.

Don Marks, of Akron, arrived in Lima last Thursday with his racing outfit. He is one of the most popular dirt track riders and undoubtedly will make a big showing when he gets in with the best of 'em in the solo events.

A trio of Harley-Davidson riders have already entered the solo events. They are: John Vance, of Dayton; Charles A. Althaus, of New Castle, Ind.; and Jack Tobias, of Dayton.

It is possible that Zip Zundry, of Toledo, will ride his famous Harley-Davidson in the solo events. Although his entry has not yet been made, it is understood that reliable sources that this sensational rider will be entered by the time the races are called tomorrow afternoon.

Cliff Jenkins, of Wellston, O., and M. O. Devers, of Dayton, have entered the solo events with their Excelsior motorcycles.

Although several entries are yet to be filed, the race for the state sidecar championship is expected to be one of the most sensational and thrilling events of the entire card.

It was thru the sanction of the Motorcycle and Allied Trade associations that the championship was decided to be run off in Lima this year.

"Jiggs" Price, of Mansfield, probably one of the most well known dirt track sidecar riders, will race for the state championship here with his Harley-Davidson.

Charles J. Smith, Lima, will pilot Charles Rousculp's "Special" for the championship, which will be equipped with a "Flexie" sidecar and equipment.

Bill Governor, of Gerard, O., will ride a Harley-Davidson. Governor is a nifty rider, and is expected to put in a strong bid for state honors.

Sammy Riddle, of Pittsburg, and his famous Indian Special Powerplus, have entered to make the race more interesting for the big riders.

He is a national famed rider, and is now holder of the national 10-mile sidecar championship which he won at Pottstown, Pa., last fall.

One of the most interesting features of the entire card will be a race between Indian Scouts and Harley-Davidson Sports, which will undoubtedly prove the questionable supremacy of the two machines on the dirt track. All entries in this race will be local amateurs.

General admission, including war tax, will be 50 cents. The local cavalry troop of O. N. G. will patrol and police the grounds.

SPEED FIENDS READY FOR ANNUAL CLASSIC

With more than a score of daring race drivers—the pick of two continents—ready for the annual 500-mile Indianapolis sweepstakes Monday all that remained to make the big race a success was fair weather, according to advance indications.

The drivers have their mounts thoroughly tuned up for the world's greatest speed event. There isn't a "digger" in the bunch and competition will be better than ever for $70,000 in prize money. The men who will pilot the snorting steel steeds are veterans for the most part. Thumbtack sketches of their careers in the auto racing game are timely. They follow:

RALPH DEPALMA—Hung up the fastest time ever made on the local track in 1915. Brought his Ballot into fifth money last year after a typical streak of hard luck.

DARIO RESTA—Spectacular foreign driver who copped the 1916 victory at the Speedway and brought home the bacon, valued at $82,000 in cash, from his invasions of 1915 and 1916.

HOWARD WILCOX—"Hoosier Pride," who achieved a glorious victory here in 1915, taking first prize. The Peugeot "Howdy" drove last year wouldn't carry him to the finish, but with a good mount from the same factory he drove a heady, dashing race two years ago.

RENE THOMAS—Winner of the 1914 classic here brought his Ballot over the marker for second place in 1920 and is driving a Sunbeam this year.

RALPH MULFORD—Along with Ralph DePalma, Mulford has driven in every 500-mile race here. He brought his Mulford Special barely into the money in 1920, when he won ninth place.

JOE ROYER—The bantam driver who battled Ralph DePalma every foot of the way in the early stages of last year's classic and gathered in about $9,000 in lap prizes. He qualified for the race game by putting Louis Chevrolet's little Cornet into the running here in 1913.

TOMMY MILTON—Holder of the world's fastest automobile speed record, 156 miles an hour, Milton brought his Duesenberg into third position at the finish last year.

JIMMY MURPHY—Captain of the Duesenberg squadron, flashed from obscurity to fame by winning the inaugural 250-mile sweepstakes at Los Angeles. He learned to drive while a mechanic for Tommy Milton. Murphy finished in Milton's wake last year, winning fourth money.

BENNETT HILL—He is the comedian of the racing game and is a heady driver for all that. John Thole picked Hill to drive his Duesenberg Special into the money. Thole is a dirt-track driver, but he's skittish on the "ricks, so he is riding as a mechanic.

EDDIE HEARNE—Famous as a millionaire driver of a decade ago. Started "big time" racing when the Speedway was an infant and last year finished in sixth money.

ROSCOE SARLES—Is a Hoosier and considerable sportsman. His home is in Los Angeles now and he "works" for the movies when speed is demanded. The checkered flag proclaimed him winner of the 250-mile Thanksgiving race at Los Angeles. Sarles' engine broke up on his first appearance here in 1913 and he went out on the fifty-seventh lap last year.

PERCY FORD—National amateur racing champion; won the 100-mile non-professional race in Chicago in 1917.

RILEY J. BRETT—Put up a game, but losing fight for tenth place in the last 500-mile classic, driving a "Richards Special."

JEAN CHASSAGNE—Ever-calm Frenchman who makes a "living" from the race game. This is his fourth try at the local oval. He brought his Ballot into seventh position in 1920.

ALBERT GUYOT—Veteran of the Indianapolis track. The Frenchman made splendid showings in the 1913 and 1914 races and showed up well in the money in 1919.

EDWARD MILLER—Youthful driver who is just coming into his own.

JOE THOMAS—Brought his Monroe in at the finish last year for eighth money. Thomas leaped into the limelight by winning second in the Corona road race in 1916, in which Bob Burman, speed king, was killed.

JULES ELLINROE—Dirt track king, who's just breaking into the paved speedway business. Ellinroe entered a car here last year, but didn't get it ready in time.

IRA VAIL—Recently annexed three one-hundred-mile events and has been traveling a fast clip on the coast. Ira started his speed career in the Sheepshead bay festivities in 1916 and placed fourth here in 1919. He couldn't complete his car before race day last year.

EDDIE PULLEN—Eddie has never before been formally entered in any of the 500-mile events, but now he has his chance at the wheel of one of the "Duessevs."

ANDRE BOILLLOT—Went to the pits with his Peugeot after forty miles in the grind last year, but he is not discouraged. He is a brother of the late Georges Boillot.

C. W. VAN RANST—Right-hand man of Louis Chevrolet in the construction of the new eight-in-row motors entered to-day. He is a designer-engineer and this is his first whack at the Speedway.

L. E. COREM—Another attaché of the Chevrolet outfit who was to take the wheel of one of the Frontenac specials to-day.

MELVIN E. HEADLEY—Third member of the Chevrolet crew who has made an individual entry of a Frontenac.

Real Game Scheduled Here This Afternoon

There is every reason to believe that Lima fans will be afforded an opportunity to witness a real ball game here this afternoon when the Independents cross bludgeons with the Norwoods of Cincinnati at Murphy-st lot. The same reasons hold good for Monday when these teams again line up against each other.

In the past the Norwoods considered one of the best semi-pro teams in this section of the country, and all reports from the Queen City being true, the aggregation is just as strong this season as it has ever been. Two years ago, Manager Halloran, of the local team, endeavored to bring the Norwoods here, but that team refused to come because it believed the Independents were not fast enough company to give them an interesting battle.

This season, however, the Norwood management, by a lucrative offer, has been persuaded to bring its aggregation to Lima for two games.

BEST IS THERE

The cream of Southern Ohio semi-pro players is the Norwood team. And many members of that aggregation have seen action with the majors or fast minor teams. For instance, John Dell, former outfielder for the Columbus, American Association, team, has a regular berth on the Norwood machine.

So there is little doubt but that the team from Cincinnati will uphold its end of the tilt.

That the locals will throw an exceedingly strong aggregation on the field, Manager Halloran assures fans.

All efforts to bring Hod Eller, hurling hero of the 1919 world's series, here proved unsuccessful. Manager Pat Moran, of the Cincy Reds, was willing for the "Danville Fireman" to hurl for the local team, but Garry Herrmann, president of the Reds, declared there was nothing doing. Herrmann averred if Cincinnati lost the game today, Redleg fans would be asking why he allowed Eller to pitch ball out of town, while the team plays at home and loses.

His argument is logical.

ALEXANDER TO WORK

Instead of Eller, a youngster by the name of Alexander has been obtained for this afternoon's game, while Roger Bresnahan, owner-manager of the Toledo, American Association, team has promised to send down a hurler for Monday's game.

Just who "Rajah" will send, Halloran Saturday night could not say. Alexander is a college lad, and has a regular berth on the fast Notre Dame team. This fact alone leads one to believe that he must be good.

For Notre Dame has always been noted for its good teams, and a player must show ability before he can be classed as a regular on that outfit. Alexander comes to Lima well recommended, and should be able to deliver the goods.

Nugan, formerly a member of the St. Paul, American Association team, has been obtained by the local management to fill second position, considered the one weak spot of an otherwise perfect infield. Nugan, like Alexander, comes here well recommended, and should bolster the local team.

SCOUTS WATCHING SEWARD

Young Seward, the 18-year-old high school lad, is being watched, it is understood, by scouts from the majors. The youngster is displaying a lot of ability as an initial cushion tender, and he certainly swings a wicked ash. He's a large youngster, and when he crams the old apple, he puts a lot of strength into his swing. Seward is a consistent right-field hitter, and he puts 'em beyond the reach of the fielders.

The game will be called at 2 o'clock. Monday's game will be started at 2 o'clock.

ALL IS REAL FOR GIRLS MEET

Everything is all set for the annual inter-city field meet for which the Y. W. C. A. is to put Decoration Day at Faurst Park. Teams from Wapakoneta, Vaughnsville and individual entries from Bluffton, Columbus Grove and other nearby towns will meet with the two local teams, the Jackies and the Lima Independents. Reports from the outside state that they are training hard and will come here with "blood in eye." It is claimed that a co-real stars will be brought here from the out-of-town teams.

Entrance of Mary Ellen Garholder of several world records girls' events into the competition may mean that a number of records and perhaps a world's record will be broken. Miss Garholder is not a member of any team but enter in the events hoping to break several of the marks.

PRACTICING DAILY

Daily practices have been held local teams at the Park and a very consistent work has been done. The field is said to be in wonderful shape and with a clear, dry day fast pace should be set.

Events will be run off as follows:

- 1—50 yard dash.
- 2—Javelin throw.
- 3—Standing broad jump.
- 4—Discus throw.
- 5—100 yard dash.
- 6—Running Broad Jump.
- 7—Basketball throw.
- 8—60 yard hurdles.
- 9—Baseball throw.
- 10—240 yard run.
- 11—Hop, step and jump.
- 12—90 yard hurdles.
- 13—Shot put.
- 14—75 yard relay.
- 15—Running high jump.
- 16—Obstacle race.

CUP TO WINNER

Awards will be made as follows. The team winning the greatest number of points will receive a silver cup. The individual winning greatest number of points will be awarded a gold medal. A silver medal will be awarded to the girl winning the second largest number of points and a bronze medal to the best all-around athlete.

A jamboree party will be given the Y. W. C. A. at the Y. W. room in the evening for all participants in the event. A general good time will be had and the trophies will be awarded.

This meet is being put on to arouse an interest in athletics for girls and to aid the membership campaign for this fall. Any funds over above expenses will go toward summer camp for Lima girls.

BABE'S VIEW

Babe Adams, veteran pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates:

"Dempsey will win. There's not much to it. Dempsey is hard a puncher for Carpentier; even the Frenchman might be wonderful, boxer no one can box, champion and win."

"If they both go in to punch ought to be over in a hurry. Otherwise Dempsey in about five rounds."

The Roll of Honor

Memorial Day, May 30, 1921

THERE is no better tribute to pay to the men who have given their lives for a cause, than to dedicate ourselves to the triumph of the cause they died for.

That's a roll of honor on which every name can be entered; in which the daily activities of our lives may be made the expression of a patriotic purpose.

We can make our business serve the community, and through that, the country. It's easy to forget about it, in the prosaic affairs of life; but it is also possible to remember it. Today is a good time to think about it.

BUICK PRICES GO TO PRE-WAR LEVEL JUNE 1

In the motor world another jolt has been handed out, this time by the Buick Motor Co. with a big drop in prices that takes the sales prices down to a pre-war basis. A drop of from $200 to $360 was made in the prices of the various models. Model 22-44, 3 passenger roadster has dropped from $1795 to $1495; Model 22-48 4 passenger coupe from $2500 to $2200. These prices are made on the new 1922 models which have recently appeared on the market. L. B. Merritt manager of the Sturtevant-Jones Motor Sales Co., agents in Lima for the Buick cars announced Saturday that these prices will take effect June 1st.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR COURT HOUSE CHANGES

Leech & Leech, architects, are preparing estimates on plans for remodeling the court house. In case the estimates come within the amount of money prescribed by commissioners the work will probably be undertaken. We must wait and see what is the estimate and whether we have the money. Commissioner A. J. Gray said Saturday. The improvements are in line with work started by Judge F. C. Becker when he assumed duties of the common pleas here. He changed plans of the court room, bringing it up to date and to compare favorably with those maintained in the larger cities. When he assumed office in February, Common Pleas Judge Fred C. Becker also approved the plans under contemplation.

Miss Norva Sidwell Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Brother
"Eruption of the skin broke out in small blisters on my brother's body. The blisters would break and larger ones would come until his body was a solid mass of blisters. He was cross and fearful and couldn't stand any clothing to be on his body, and he irritated the breaking out by rubbing it. This trouble lasted for two months and we tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment with good results. When we had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment he was healed." Ohio Wesleyan Wins Big Six Annual Classic

COLUMBUS—Ohio State University gathered the most points but Ohio Wesleyan was declared the winner of the annual big six athletic classic here Saturday under a new inter-collegiate ruling. The ruling was that Ohio State, because of previous walkaways, must score half of the total points to win or not place. State athletes broke two records and finished first in many events, but garnered only 31 points. Wesleyan scored 40, Oberlin was second with 25; Denison third with 10 1-2 and Mount Union fourth with 11 1-3 points. The scores of other colleges were: Cincinnati 9; Miami 5-4; Case 1-3; Otterbein 1-4; Wooster 4; and Kenyon 1.

Hopes of new marks on the cinder path were drowned by a series of showers which left the track sticky. Tracy Pittenger, of Ohio State, however, managed to equal the 440-yard dash record of Daniel, of Ohio Wesleyan, and Rogers, of Cincinnati of 49 4-5 seconds made in 1916.
The new distances in field events were established. Hoover, of Ohio State, flung the javelin 163 feet, eight inches, bettering the record of Cranston of Ohio Wesleyan of 164 feet, seven inches, made in 1920. Spiers, of Ohio State, followed by hurling the discus 136 feet. The former discus record was 134 feet, one inch, made by Boggs, of Kenyon, in 1904.

To Mrs. Bixby, Boston, Mass.
Dear Madam:

I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours very sincere and respectfully,

Lima Must Grow Before THE NEWS Can Have Greater City Circulation

The Acid Test

What You are Getting for Your Advertising Dollars in the City of Lima

To Local and National Advertisers—

There is no luck about advertising.
It is not a game of chance.
It is the use of knowledge.

Advertising knowledge is gained by experience—your own and that of others who are successful.

This is the great factor. There is no sophistry, no ream of figures, no glittering solicitations of the advertising salesman that can outweigh the facts or that should be permitted to sway your judgment.

You advertise to bring business into your store or office.

A Cold Business Proposition—

It is not good logic to permit yourself to be influenced by friendship or by favors, that would cause you to waste your money.

Advertising is a cold business proposition. You cannot afford to advertise in a medium that does not give you full value for your advertising dollar.

Your own good judgment tells you that.

Do not try to run counter to your judgment, because if you do your business will suffer.

If you can purchase a bill of goods on a profitable margin you are going to buy it even tho you may not like the man or firm of whom you make the purchase. That's good business because you can make money on the deal.

Invest your advertising dollar in Lima exactly the same way.

Advertise As Carefully As You Buy Goods—

Your investment in advertising should be made just as carefully and only upon just as complete investigation and knowledge as you make your purchases of goods.

You never buy goods without a careful and expert examination.

You send your high-salaried buyers into the market to inspect and investigate and to use their knowledge of prices.

Your advertising should be bought in the same careful way.

The Lima News offers you an investment for your advertising dollar on just that basis.

It urges you to investigate its circulation, the character of The News as a newspaper, the reader interest it affords you, and on which so much depends in the matter of actual returns to you.

The News urges you to obtain the experience of advertisers who spend their advertising dollar day in and day out in The News. That is tangible evidence.

The News Stands the Acid Test—

The News welcomes such investigation because we know that The News will stand the acid test.

The News is always glad to place at your disposal all the information it has about itself as an advertising medium.

Its circulation is an open book.

Like practically all great newspapers of the country, it is a member of a national bureau of audit, which sends its men into The News office and checks up its circulation just the same as a government bank examiner audits the funds of a national bank.

Concentrated Circulation Reaching Lima Homes

Lima merchants enjoy what few cities can possibly enjoy, CONCENTRATED CIRCULATION. Instead of being forced to use from three to four newspapers to reach all classes they can reach EVERY English reading family in Lima by using not more than two papers.

In the Lima News alone, merchants have the greatest distribution ever built in a city Lima's population by an Ohio newspaper. The census figures give Lima a population of 41,306. Keenest advertising agencies estimate five members to a family, but in Lima, which is more all-American than any city of its class, we believe there are fewer large families and a more conservative estimate would be FOUR to a family, viz:

Population 41,306 people
Divided by 4 10,334 homes

The Lima News actually distributes in the city alone more copies than there are homes. Here are the figures for a single evening:

By carrier (all paid) 8,802
By news dealers (all paid) 306
By news boys (paid for in advance) 1,313
To Hospitals (paid in advance) .. 50
Service copies delivered to homes .. 54

Sold and delivered in Lima.... 10,525
Number of families 10,334

Excess over homes 191

The News employs no solicitors because there are no people to solicit. We sent out a flying squadron to canvass the town when a competitor put on a contest, but after one week's work the entire crew had found only 27 homes where the News was not taken by carrier.

The Lima News city circulation staff now devotes itself exclusively to checking removals, new arrivals and delivery service. Lima must grow in population before we can guarantee any greater city circulation. Advertisers know this.

The Sunday News a Real Newspaper

The Sunday issue of The Lima News is a real newspaper. Its size must be limited as it must be based on the percentage of advertising, but the amount of its news matter is always the same. It is the only newspaper in northwestern Ohio to print telegraph news received after 9:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Chicago, Cincinnati and Cleveland papers must go to press at 9:30 on Saturday nights in order to reach Lima next morning. Many baseball games and standings do not appear in out of town papers delivered here Sunday mornings.

Political and Capitol News

In addition to the full leased wire reports, The Lima News maintains Washington and Columbus bureaus and prints every Sunday special letters from our own correspondents in those capitals; while J. W. Fisher, editor of The News, each Sunday writes an article in comment on political conditions in city and county, and state developments of the week, affecting this district.

The four-page colored comic supplement is the same four pages released simultaneously and used in the greatest of the Hearst and metropolitan Sunday papers from coast to coast.

Miss Christen's society and club pages and Miss Wagner's theatrical and movie pages are not excelled by any Ohio papers.

The market page of The Lima News will be found more complete than any afternoon paper in Ohio. Every quotation possible to secure over leased wires and by special correspondents is printed daily.

The Lima Sunday News is the most complete Sunday newspaper in the state and sells at 5 cents the copy as compared to 10 cents for so-called city Sunday papers.

City Circulation and Advertising Rates—

LIMA MERCHANTS have the CHEAPEST publicity rates in America. Many of them realize this, but others think because they now pay more money PER INCH, that advertising rates are too high.

ONLY ONE OTHER newspaper in Ohio has as low a rate PER THOUSAND REACHED as The Lima News, and it has only two-thirds the circulation of The News. Advertising agencies claim 4½ cents per thousand for newspaper circulation is a fair rate card. The News sells advertising at approximately 3 cents per thousand.

NO ADVERTISER could consistently expect us to deliver 10,525 copies of our paper each evening IN LIMA ALONE for the same cost we delivered 3,958 into Lima homes in 1914. You can't buy 10,525 postage stamps for the same money you pay for 3,958, can you?

AND YET, The News today is paying its printers and all other employees on its great staff exactly DOUBLE the salaries they drew in 1914, and newsprint is selling today at exactly 200 percent more than we paid in 1914.

LIMA MERCHANTS at this time enjoy the widest circulation ever accorded a newspaper in a city of 41,000 and are paying the cheapest rate, for their advertising ever quoted in a city of this size.

Lima Merchants have CONCENTRATED CIRCULATION in evening and one morning newspaper. If there were two, three, or four other newspapers merchants COULD NOT REACH ANY MORE HOMES, but they would be required to pay three, four, five or six advertising rates and would be spending double the amount of money to reach identically the SAME HOMES in this city.

Lima Cost of Advertising Lowest in Ohio

Added to all the foregoing reasons why you should use The News in Lima is this further great argument of ECONOMY.

Remember this, we have offered you a few of life facts about The News and the value it will give you when you invest your advertising dollar in it.

Combine these with your own careful investigations and you will convince yourself fully that The News is the one medium in Northwestern Ohio that can give you the most value for your advertising dollar.

JUNE BRIDAL EVENTS HAVE BEEN PLANNED

Numerous Happy Affairs, In Which Brides-to-Be are the Favored Guests, Have Been Given and More are Planned for Near Future

JUNE, the month of brides, will soon be upon us and the coming weeks will be characterized by the union of several couples in matrimony. That June is a perfect month for weddings cannot be questioned, with flowers blooming everywhere and the glorious blue sky completing the lovely setting.

During the past week a number of delightful gatherings incident to the auspicious occasions of the month were tendered the brides-elect and the week was, indeed, a happy one for the social realm.

Miss Beatrice Sherwood, daughter of Mrs. D. L. Sherwood, who on Wednesday, June 8th, will become the bride of Woodson Harbinger Davis, Newark, has been the honor guest in a series of informal entertainments arranged by many friends. Miss Sarah Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Barr, who returned to this city Thursday from Pittsburgh where she has been engaged in social work for the past two years, has been honored by a number of pretty gatherings prior to her marriage.

Miss Adeline Bland is the guest of friends and relatives in Cincinnati and New Port, Kentucky for several days.

Miss Ruth Nelson and Joseph Griffin are the guests of Miss Nelson's parents at Russell's Point over Monday.

Miss Levin Massey is the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Barone, Cincinnati.

Poinsetta club will meet all day Wednesday with Mrs. Dave Hogan, N. Elizabeth-st.

Misses Bernice and Maxine Wallburg, E. Eureka-st are the week-end guests of friends and relatives in Cincinnati.

Ladies' Aid society of Bethany Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. George Bohn, N. Elizabeth-st. Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Kidder and Miss Elizabeth Newson will attend the graduation exercises at Delaware.

Delphian club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Wallace King.

Von Bora Circle of Zion Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. Bridewell, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Y. Fridley, (Ruth Deane Makin) returned to Lima after an extended wedding trip throughout the south. They were the guests of Mr. Fridley's parents in Covington, Va. for a short time.

Members of Mrs. L. H. Earl's private school including Miriam Kammerer, Josephine Pierce, Clementine Bloom, Jane Kettler, Thomas Cridler and Virgil Piper appeared in an interesting playlet, "Our Aunt From California" at the Earl home on Richie-ave, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cory and son Frank, Woodlawn-ave and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Purcher, N. Metcalf-st. are the week-end guests of Charles Cory, a student at University of Michigan.

W. Y. Berry, Pittsburg is the week-end guest of his parent, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Berry, N. Jameson-ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred English and little daughter, Fort Huron, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Barry, S. Nye-st.

Women's Foreign Missionary society of Trinity M. E. church will meet in the parlors of the church Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. C. B. Plate, Mrs. E. H. Gavigan, Mrs. Mary Morgan and Mrs. O. T. Lippincott as hostesses. Intercession will be in charge of Mrs. A. M. Crist; lesson Chapter 5, "Influence of the Book," Mrs. D. F. Helms; music, Mrs. Joseph Davison and social hour, Mrs. H. Welch and Mrs. J. H. Berry.

Mrs. R. C. Binkley welcomed the members of the Kee-Mar club to her home on Laurel-ave Wednesday. In a cleverly arranged contest, Mrs. Clarence Woerner was successful and at the conclusion of an enjoyable afternoon, the hostess served a dainty lunch assisted by Mrs. C. B. Fraumfelter, the only guest.

Club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. John Williams, Dingledine-ave.

Members of the Coterie club entertained their husbands at 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Chamberlain. The room was attractive.

Small tables were arranged throughout the rooms and at the conclusion of an elaborate dinner, the evening was pleasantly whiled away in music and a contest in which Mrs. Harley Chisman, Frank Cahill and Mr. Cramer were successful.

Those enjoying the affair included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shippe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cahill, Mr. and Mrs. William Geston and son Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fazo and daughter Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Shockey, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stanner, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Chisman, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cramer, Miss Helen Burnett, Ruth Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson.

HERE IS A SMART GOING-AWAY SUIT FOR JUNE BRIDE

The bridal gown and the bridesmaid's frocks are not the only things to be thought of in connection with the coming weddings of May and June. There is the bride's traveling suit to be included in the trousseau. This suit must be chosen with care for the June bride does not wear her suit much until fall, that is after the honeymoon trip. Therefore the going-away suit must be conservative enough to last more than a season, and it must be attractive enough so that the little bride will not feel that it is just an ordinary suit.

Here is a most charming and attractive model. It is made of dull gray covert cloth. It is simple as to line but exquisitely tailored. The skirt is straight and plain, while the coat is panel back and front, with belt forming only on the sides. Under the belt at the sides are attractive lines carried out in slot seam effects.

Misses Ada Ferrall and Gladys Brown are guests of relatives and friends in Bucyrus over Monday.

Miss Ella Holliman is the guest of friends and relatives in Quincy over Monday.

Miss Serelda Wood, a student at Miami university, is the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wood, N. Jameson-ave.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Marks, Greenlawn-ave are visiting in Toledo for several days.

Mrs. Mae C. Bolger, E. Market-st is the guest of Mrs. Stewart E. Hall and family, Akron.

SHAWNEE CLUB SEASON OPENS ON MEMORIAL DAY

Gala Plans for the Occasion at Popular Assembly Place of Devotees of Society—Milady Ready to Take on Her "Coat of Tan" in Big Outdoors

DECORATION DAY will be a gala occasion for society. All will, doubtless, celebrate this glorious event in their own particular fashion, as is customary. One of the principal and perhaps most delightful headquarters for society on this day will be the Shawnee Country club, where festivity will reign from early dawn until midnight, which will sound the "hail and farewell" and the final strains of the jazz band will bring the dancing of the evening to a happy close.

Now is the time for milady to "take on her coat of tan." The golf links will, doubtless, be filled with members of the fairer sex and the golf balls will be flying thru the air thruout the course of the day.

A merry luncheon will be served between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock. Chairs and tables will deck the lawns adjacent to the courts where the non-players will seek the cool and enticing shade of the trees.

This, the opening day of Shawnee Country Club for the season, will, no doubt, prove to be a joyous one, providing the weather man conducts himself properly and postpones frequent cloudbursts until a later date.

Many are planning to celebrate the day at Indian Lake or other points of interest where they may forget their everyday trials and tribulations and enjoy the day in golfing, fishing, bathing, motoring or any other of the enjoyable sports and pastimes.

Complimenting Miss Beatrice Sherwood, bride-elect of Woodson Harbinger Davis, Miss Dorothy Wheeler will entertain at 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elks' home, Tuesday, Wednesday evening Mrs. Mark Slusser will entertain with a shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Bascombe, N. Metcalf-st, for the pleasure of Miss Sherwood.

Mrs. Frank Cutter and Mrs. Fred Becker will entertain the members of the Tuesday Bridge club at 1 o'clock luncheon at the Lima club, Tuesday.

Miss Helen Longworth and her sister, Miss Mary, a teacher in the Detroit schools, will go to New York City at the termination of the school year where they will study at Columbia University during the summer months.

Mrs. J. W. Farrall opened her home on W. High-st Thursday to an all day meeting of the members of the L. D. C. O. C.

The rooms were attractively decorated and at noon an elaborate dinner was served. The only guests were Miss Mildred Downing and Mrs. W. H. Langley.

Club will meet the last Thursday in June with Mrs. Beach, E. Market-st.

Last meeting of the year of the Young Ladies' Circle of the First Baptist church will be held Tuesday evening at the church at which time husbands of the members will be entertained. Mrs. Eva Creps will conclude her series of lectures on the "Life of Christ," having for her subject, "The Tabernacle."

Last meeting of the year of the Mercy Circle of King's Daughters, which was to have been held Wednesday, June 16th, at which time it will meet with Miss Katherine Reilly, W. Market-st. Mrs. Charles East and Mrs. R. O. Bigley will act as assistant hostesses.

Mrs. O. F. Smith and daughter Dorothy, Columbus, are visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Moore, W. North-st.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Huecker and daughter Martha and Mrs. Curtis, motored to Winona Lake last week where they attended the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church. They returned to this city Thursday.

Memorial Day

In sincere and fervent memory do we lay aside our regular vocations of life and pay homage to those who have made the "Supreme Sacrifice", so that this might be a better World to live in.

Will you not take this time to OFFER up a prayer for those who so willingly gave their lives, The Nurse, The Soldier, The Sailor and all the others who passed to the great beyond in making for our Peace and Happiness.

In memoriam let us remember that it is only a short time since we celebrated Mother's Day, and remember that every one of those who has passed out of this life, had a Mother, who if she is living to-day is grieving for Her or Him, and why not make it a bit easier for her by adding your prayers on this great National Holiday—a day of prayer for departed Patriots.

WIFE BECOMES DISCONTENTED

Cannot Make Friends in New Home Here

Wants Husband To Move Back to Old Home Town

"Unhappy" Likes Beau But Won't Permit Him to Propose

Dear Miss Smart: My husband and family and I recently moved to this city and I am very lonesome, as we have few friends. My husband comes home after work and does nothing but read. I guess he forgets all about the children and myself and get very lonesome. I have asked that we move back to our home town, but my husband refuses. What would you advise me to do? I feel like leaving him and take our children and go back to our home town. Please tell me what to do?

Discontented.

DON'T think of leaving your husband. Your happiness is with him, not away from him. You could not possibly be happy if you broke up your home and went back to your home town without him. Perhaps you think you could be satisfied and take up the old life as you left it, but you would quickly see your mistake. You would soon miss your husband and realize how much he means to you and how unfair you had been in depriving him and the children of each other's companionship. Certainly you see how useless and unfair it would be. Furthermore, it would simply be an admission to all who know you at home of your failure to make a success of your marriage.

Your letter does not indicate that you have cause for deep grievance against your husband. Remember there are many, many husbands who come home after working hours and do worse things than read. You cannot expect your husband to be perfect. Try to appreciate the good qualities which are in him. Look for the finer things. Don't make a great issue of trifles.

If you have failed to find happiness and to make friends in the city, you are doubtless to blame as much as your husband. If he does not make friends readily, it is you who must make an effort to gather around you a pleasant social group which will include persons congenial to both of you.

Attend a church in your neighborhood or one of which you are a member. You might also join some organization working toward civic improvement. In this way you will make desirable friends.

Ask your husband to take you out occasionally. I am certain he will be reasonable and considerate of your pleasures. Usually it is the wife who plans the diversions she shares with her husband.

Dear Miss Smart: Do you think furniture will come down by next spring? (2) Give me a remedy for a baby when it is so cross. When it is out of its teeth, (3) Don't you think it is a good idea to have a woman policeman? (4) Why is a red head girl run down so by the men? Is it just because they are red headed?

H. D. E.
(1) Yes, I think so. There is a general trend in the lowering of prices in almost everything at present. (2) Consult a physician. (3) Perhaps so. (4) Again the "red headed girl" question arises! I do not feel that the men are prejudiced against girls with red hair. There is certainly no reason for them to. Perhaps the majority of little utterances which you have heard in connection with all these red headed girls have simply been stated in jest. You know it is very often said (in jest, understand) that a red headed girl or even a man, whichever the case may be, always has a "red hot" temper to harmonize with the hair.

Dear Miss Smart: I have been going with a young man for about a year. He has told me that he loves me and has spoken of marriage several times. I should think he would ask me outright and so every time he has started to say something I have given him a cool answer. I care a great deal for him. What do you think I should do?

Unhappy.

The average man would hardly ask a girl to become engaged to him unless he is reasonably certain that his regard is returned. When you are cold and aloof or change the subject it is natural for this man to believe that you perhaps do not care for him and that you may be taking this way to prevent him from making a definite proposal. It is unkind and unfair of you to do this and for you to continue this attitude might result in the loss of all chance of a proposal.

Dear Miss Smart: Would you please tell me how to remove paint stains?

Housewife.
Old paint stains should be softened with grease (cotton-seed oil or lard are both good to use) before a solvent is applied to them. Benzine, naphtha, chloroform or turpentine will remove the stain when soft. Benzine or chloroform are especially good for colored and delicate fabrics.

Friday noon the four classes of South High School assembled in their auditorium, filling it to overflowing as it was an occasion of much importance.

Allen Ireland, president of the Senior class, was in charge of a rousing song by the school, opening the program.

In a few well formulated words the class president presented as a gift from the Senior class, a beautiful picture in colors of the original, which adorns the Boston Library Reference room. It is the work of the renowned Sir Edwin Austin Abbey, an American who achieved fame thru the long years of toil and study abroad and of home evenings, a loyal citizen of the U. S.

The picture represents Sir Galahad after a night's vigil consecrating himself to the search for the Holy Grail and is an inspiration to every boy and girl to speak purely and to right wrong.

G. E. Roubesh, principal of the school in a speech of acceptance, told how greatly the picture would help all in finding the best in life.

Misses Olive Blank and Florence Niles favored with a vocal duet. Miss Gladys Niles followed with a sketch of Abbey's life. George Deken gave a violin number. Miss Viola Lee spoke of the Holy Grail. Miss Elizabeth Chapman sang a pleasing number and Howard Hawkins spoke on the influence of pictures.

Miss Bessie Kelley, supervisor of art in Lima schools, gave an interesting talk on the significance of the giving of a beautiful picture to the South High School, saying that it was a legacy of real value and an expression of the appreciation of literature and art, not only befitting this school but all of Lima and a credit to the class of 1921.

The plan is to continue securing this series of pictures, one in septa tones having been given by a former class, which speaks well for a high school three years old.

A jolly quartette, James Smith, Gordon Shaw, John Bowers and Neil Shaw, concluded the interesting program and Glendale Sluitts in a class poem was received by a round of applause.

Beginning May 20, and continuing until May 30, the Bluffton College holds its annual commencement exercises.

Wednesday will be Class Day. Beginning at 8 a. m. the Junior-Senior breakfast will be held. At 3 p. m. a public recital by Professor Elmer Eade; 5 p. m. varsity banquet; 8 p. m., senior program in which two young Lima people will take part, Theodore Schied, having the class poem and Miss Harriett Schied, an organ number.

Thursday is Alumni Day opening with the Alumni Varsity Baseball at 9:30 a. m. dual track meet at 1:30 p. m., alumni banquet at 8 p. m. At the commencement concert, the College Choral society will present Gail's "Holy City."

Friday the commencement proper will be held. Procession will take place at 9:30 a. m. Dean N. E. Byers will be in charge of the commencement. President W. G. Clippenger, D. D. of Otterbein College will deliver the address. Miss Hilda Lette, Lima, will receive an A. M. Commencement luncheon will be at 12 o'clock, with Dr. C. Henry Smith as toastmaster.

Monday and Tuesday will be Peony Days in the neighboring city of Van Wert, when a public spirited citizen will open his grounds to the public that they may see his wonderful display of 600 varieties of flowers in his sunken gardens where expert landscape gardeners have been at work to the past two years.

Other gardens will also be opened, thousands of people making a pilgrimage to this beautiful city which has achieved renown thru its citizens' love of the beautiful in the parks, fountains, library, hospital nurses' home, Y. W. C. A., also its wonderful bird gardens, peonies and interesting bird houses which have attracted feathered songsters of unusual kinds.

Friday morning the kindergarten of the South Side closed its regular work for this season by having a merry farewell party under the guidance of their instructor, Miss Mahel Bartlett and her assistant, Miss Helen Williams.

The tables were attractively arranged with peonies and roses and dainty gifts were given as favors. Gathered about the table were Charles and Viola Bradford, Josie Augustine Birut, Mariam Arthur, Dean and Mike Simmerella, Harold Swallow, Kenneth Spring, Elroy Sierier, Helen James, Juanita and Richard Felver, Martha Young, Jane and Mary Dawson, Martha Cowlick, Isaac Heffner, Mary Mason, Richard and Rosemary Shindeldecker.

Light refreshments were enjoyed and then a story telling hour. Each little girl made a cunning courtesy and each boy a gallant bow in saying goodbye.

The number registered in this, the first season, was 27, and the success of the undertaking established. It is with regret that the neighborhood says goodbye to Miss Bartlett, who is planning to make her future home in California.

Hotel Argonne

Market at Elizabeth

The Formal Opening to the Public Is Set For Independence Day, July 4, 1921

About June 15, work will have progressed to a stage nearing completion. After that date we will take pleasure in conducting you through this beautiful building. We want the people of Lima to feel free to come and see the results obtained for Lima, by Lima men. There is still some of the stock in this splendid hotel for sale to Lima people at par. There are thousands of dollars sent out of Lima every year for stock in concerns about which you know only what they see fit to give out. Here is a proposition in your own home town in which you can invest your money knowing that it will be honestly handled, for the men who are identified with it are all citizens of Lima of undoubted integrity. Read over this list carefully and if you have money to invest ask any one of the men to explain the proposition to you. They have faith in it or they would not be stockholders.

Remember This — Lima Will Be Just What You Make It

When you have an opportunity to identify yourself with the other citizens in making Lima greater, get in the game and be a BOOSTER.

Society News

A delightful and attractive dancing recital was given in the Y. W. C. A. rooms Saturday afternoon and evening when Miss Irene Buckley presented 35 of her pupils.

The gymnasium was resplendent with lovely blossoms. A space was cleared in a corner of the large room for the dances and was especially artistic with a background of branches while pink and white peonies were scattered here and there.

The costumes were in pastel shades and were all suggestive of the various dances. All who participated showed unusual talent and splendid training. Miss Louise Wood and Miss Alice Rossett presided at the piano.

The following program was presented: Technique, exercise in expression; baby work, "Nursery Rhymes," "Hark the Lark," and "Lady Bird," "Humoresque," Inez Zelensky; petite demoeselle: Mary Helen Thompson, Anne Catherine Marshall, Helen Yearwood, Laura Jane Gilbert and Margaret Leech; "Jump Jim Crow," Joseph Smith; "Coming Thru the Rye," Coetta and Helen Armstrong; Quotient Armstrong and Jenn Pletcher; "Kate Greenaway Folks," Naomi Lippincott and Gae Morton; "Curly Locks," Miriam Morton; "Bo Peep," Miriam Morton; Eleanor Starkey and Annette Vincent; "Miss Muffett," Marguerite Lenore Leech; Triolian Trio, senior class; "Fair's Revel," senior class; "Lady Tulip," Helen Armstrong; Mignonneite, Junior class; "Dixie," Josephine Peirce; "Violet," senior class; "Doll Dance," Charlotte Fish; "Cuckoo Clock," Anna Catherine Marshall, Helen Yearwood, Mary Helen Thompson and Margaret Leech; "Cherry Blossoms," Gienna Maria Hobart; "Fleur de Lis," Virginia Mosher; "Sorrentina," senior class; "Faun Dances," Josephine Peirce; "My Lady Gae's Walking," Margaret Leech; "Sleepy Time," Laura Jane Gilbert. Members of the senior class included Frances Green, Betty Hunter, Leona Collier, Ruth Stellan, Mary Ellen Kraft, Catherine Holland, Gae Morton, Naomi Lippincott, Elizabeth Reid, Catherine Glover and Mildred Weaver, while those of the junior class included Eleanor Starkey, Margaret Glover, Joseph Smith, Miriam Morton, Annette Vincent, Mona Vittur, Inez Zelensky and Margaret Leech.

In celebration of the 45th birthday anniversary of her husband, Mrs. John L. McClure entertained with a pretty dinner party at their home, Thursday.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shaw and daughter, Alice, Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. McClure and daughter, Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faust, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fullerton and Clyde Armstrong.

Miss Hazel Dickman, 921 Brice-ave, is spending the week end with friends, at Akron.

Members of the N. W. club will be entertained at 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Harry Thomas, Apartment No. 1, Thomas-apt, Friday.

Mrs. Harry Orebaugh and daughter Mary Louise left Saturday for Cincinnati where they will join Mr. Orebaugh and make their future home in that city.

The stupendous work involved in such an orchestra is difficult to realize, as well as the great expense connected. For instance, each violinist must have an instrument worth at least $300. The really good performer is a real student, a great leader and above all, a gentleman. To one who came in touch with the performers of Friday evening, this was found to be a delightful fact.

ARRAY OF EXCEPTIONALLY NOTABLE FILM ARTISTS TO APPEAR HERE

FAMOUS AUTHORS' STORIES

Silver Sheet Reflections to Depict Latest and Best of Movie World Ideas

Big Features are Announced For the Pleasure of Lima Film Fans This Week

(By ESTHER WAGNER)

NOTABLE array of film players appear on the week's roster of silver sheet attractions, each and every one in their very latest vehicle. Famous authors are well represented in the list, with well known players enacting their heroes and heroines. Several really big features are announced as opening the week's activities in movie circles.

James Oliver Curwood's great story "Kazan" will be the special feature today and all this week at the Regent theatre. You've read Mr. Curwood's story of the northwest and remember the thrill it gave you. It's pictured version, be assured, is no less meritorious.

"Home Talent," a new five reel Mack Sennett comedy, graces the screen at the Sigma today and for four days. Patrons of the Sigma will remember "The Small Town Idol" and are expecting a comedy just as entertaining, if not more so. "Home Talent" will disappoint no one. Phyllis Haver, Ben Turpin, Jimmy Finlayson and the entire star of Sennett beauties appear in the cast.

Beautiful Elaine Hammerstein is appearing today at the Lyric theatre in Kathleen Norris' story, "Poor, Dear Margaret Kirby." The story is typical of Miss Hammerstein and provides her with a most suitable role.

George Fitzmaurice's "Paying the Piper" is the attraction today at the Faurot. Miss Dorothy Dickson, who attained fame on Broadway as "a dancer during the year," has the leading role in this production. Like all of Mr. Fitzmaurice's works, "Paying the Piper" is beautifully staged and costumed.

Wanda Hawley, Realart star, will be seen at the Faurot the last three days of the week in "The Outside Woman," a delightful little comedy-drama with the petite Wanda ideally cast.

Mae Marsh, whom you haven't seen in a month of Sundays, will appear at the Lyric the last of this week in "The Little Fraid Lady." Miss Marsh is one of the best known and most capable actresses on the screen today and fans will welcome her return.

Tom Mix, whose name stands for thrills with a capital T, is to appear at the Sigma on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Road Demon." Sounds interesting.

Doraldina, a new recruit to the movies, is at the Majestic today in "The Woman Untamed." Some dancer, is Doraldina.

Good comedies, too, are on the week's programme. "Now or Never" with Harold Lloyd, is at the Lyric today; another of the re-acting "Bill and Bob" variety is included in the Sigma's bill of fare; "Dining Room, Kitchen and Sink" with Fay Tincher is scheduled to show today at the Regent. A comedy, you know, can mar or make a program.

The Sigma's Pictures

GAIN Mack Sennett comes forward with another five-reel comedy feature, this one being known as "Home Talent." And again Sennett demonstrates that a comedy can contain funny situations and comic action even in five-reel length. "A Small Town Idol" was funny. "Home Talent" is funnier.

Ben Turpin, Jim Finlayson, Kala Pasha, Phyllis Haver, Harriet Hammond, in fact, the entire Sennett cast, has helped make "Home Talent" the really splendid feature it is. The plot is distinctly new and provides scenes that are truly marvelous in their fantastic splendor and colorfulness.

Ben Turpin and his associates are stranded vaudeville performers who owe the hotel proprietor, Charlie Murray, an enormous hotel bill. To square themselves, they plan a great theatrical venture, borrowing the proprietor's little daughter as leading lady. Daughter was a second edition of Luis Fazenda and could swing a wicked broom, but under the tutelage of Ben and the others, she becomes a beautiful siren and blossoms out like a veritable rose. The theatrical enterprise includes many scenes of the Roman Slave Mart, and it is during these scenes that the famous Sennett beauties are brought to the fore.

So, besides seeing an immensely funny offering, with the best comedians of the age in the leading roles, you will also see many of the most picturesque sets and scenes ever put upon the screen. Special stress is laid upon the unusual photography of the piece, which is said to be out of the ordinary.

"Home Talent" is just another Sennett knockout. It is announced as the feature attraction today and for four days at the Sigma theatre.

"The Road Demon" with Tom Mix, comes to the Sigma on Thursday and for the last of the week. Two splendid short comedies appear on the week's program, the first being another of the popular "Bill and Bob" brand, the other "The Tourist," which accompanies the Mix feature.

The Faurot's Pictures

PARAMOUNT and Realart share the week at the Faurot. The former contributes the George Fitzmaurice production, "Paying the Piper," which starts a four-day engagement this afternoon, and Realart will furnish Wanda Hawley's new comedy, "The Outside Woman," which finishes the week.

After viewing other Fitzmaurice productions such as "On With the Dance" and "Idols of Clay" you will doubtless look for something bizarre in "Paying the Piper," and you will not be disappointed, for the picture has been "rapturously praised" for the magnificence of its settings, costumes and the novel and artistic photography with which it abounds.

"Paying the Piper" promulgates the idea that the piper must be paid for his playing. The characters who learn this are all members of the smart set who do the most unconventional things. They play with fire, figuratively speaking, and they will have their fun, but with never a shot for paying until a rude climax comes.

With Fitzmaurice's wonderful staging and photographic effects, you will see a cast that in the matter of principals at least must give you reason to anticipate something extraordinary. Dorothy Dickson, a very beautiful and very popular favorite of the New York musical comedy stage has the leading role, to which she brings a charming personality and the knack of wearing amazing gowns in a manner that will make you sit up and take notice. Then there is the gracious and accomplished Alma Tell, the veteran George Fawcett, clever Rod LaRocque and the likeable Reginald Denny. The feature will be accompanied by the Pathe News and the Paramount Magazine.

"The Outside Woman" in which Wanda Hawley is starred, is an amusing comedy, pleasant, polite and palatable, with just enough spice to put it almost into the class of the "bedroom farce". It also has a great deal of genuine humor which the director has retained from the play, "All Night Long", from which the picture was adapted. You may be sure of liking Wanda Hawley as a new bride. She's good for the eyes in any costume but in negligee presents a charming picture. Others in the cast are Clyde Fillmore, Sidney Bracey, Rosita Martini, Misso-Saki, Mary Winston and Thena Jasper, who makes a big hit as a colored maid. The Pathe Review and the Topics Digest are the accompanying features.

The Regent's Pictures

EVERY story that James Oliver Curwood has had produced for the screen has proven exceptionally strong as an entertainment feature, and for that reason the management of the Regent theatre has no hesitation in recommending "Kazan", the attraction which is scheduled for today. "Kazan" is the story of the great northwest, told as only Curwood can tell them with all the thrills, all the excitement and all the wonderful attention to detail that goes into the making of a great literary effort or motion picture. Chiefly concerned are a young woman, alone in the wilderness, and MacCreedy, known as "Black" MacCreedy, with a reputation for brutality and dark deeds that have made his name dreaded in all the great area of the section. But the work of the great dog known as "Kazan" is such that to him has fallen the title role of the story. It is "Kazan" who pitted and loved by heroine, finally saves his mistress from the villainy of MacCreedy who has threatened her when she repulses his offers of love or friendship. "Kazan", also an animal, has known MacCreedy only as a driver of dogs and men; of the most cruel type, and while fearing him awaits an opportunity to avenge the cruelty which he has received at the hands of the terror of the wilderness. His opportunity comes when MacCreedy believes he has the girl at his mercy, alone in a hut many miles from any other habitation. The part of the girl is taken by Jane Novak, known to all lovers of motion pictures as one of the most finished of actresses, as well as for her remarkable beauty. As is to be expected the scenery in this picture is natural, and this because of the fact it was taken in natural locations, there being very little set material or locations used.

"Kazan" will be found every bit as thrilling as "The River's End", "Back to God's Country", or any picture which has for its locale the great northwest woods. The cast is made up of finished workers and no effort has been spared to make it what it truly is—a great and wonderful screen play, filled with entertainment value of the highest character.

The same bill that carries "Kazan" will include as the fun feature, "Dining Room, Kitchen and Sink". It is in two reels and has as the central character Fay Tincher, who is known for her antics as the screen's best comedienne. Miss Tincher has with her a lively bunch of beauties who add much to the action of a comedy which is making thousands happy every day. Other big pictures are scheduled for the Regent during the summer months.

More weddings. The report comes that Katherine MacDonald, the American Beauty, is soon to marry a Los Angeles business man. She herself has neither confirmed nor denied the report.

FASHION NOTE

Norma and Constance Talmadge have just signed an important contract with Lucien Lelong, famous "couturier" in Paris, whereby he will furnish them with several models a year, which, of course, will be the very latest ultra-fashionable styles.

UNITED ARTIST CORPORATION TO MARKET KNOWLES' PLAY, "CARNIVAL"

FEATURE REALLY A SPECTACLE

Nature of Story is Expressed in Title—Gorgeous Scenes Laid in Venice

French Classes of Long Beach Schools Witness Filming of "Three Musketeers"

EXTENSIVE preparations are being made by the United Artists Corporation for the marketing of "Carnival," the Harley Knowles production made in England, which Hiram Abrams announced the Big Four had purchased for world distribution.

This information was given out by the president of the United Artists' just before he left Los Angeles where he spent a week in conference with Mary Pickford Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin.

"Carnival" is a seven reel picture featuring Mathewson Lang, reputed to be England's greatest actor. The nature of this feature is expressed in the title, and the story is laid in Venice where all of the exterior scenes were made. This production takes the form of a spectacle, lavish and picturesque in costume, and it is said that more than a thousand players took part. The cast is wholly English, and includes all of the best-known players in the British Isles.

Harley Knowles is a former Los Angeles director, who has been producing abroad for the past few years. He has a thoro knowledge of picture technique and for that reason it is believed that "Carnival" will have a big advantage over any motion picture that has yet been produced abroad.

As yet no announcement has been made by the United Artists' as to when this film will be released, but it is expected that it will be presented in the American Theatres early in the autumn.

In order to get a more accurate conception of Alexander Dumas' famous story "The Three Musketeers," which is being studied in the original tongue by the French classes in all Long Beach schools: Miss Edna Blackwood, head of the high school French departments, made an arrangement with Douglas Fairbanks thru which French classes from the all of the beach city schools are to be allowed to visit the Fairbanks studio and watch the making of the film version of this literary classic. Fred Niolo, who is directing this feature, has opened the studio research department to the pupils so they may gather material for their lecture courses. The students are also being permitted to make kodak pictures of the sets and players in order that they may study the architecture and costumes of the period.

The Lyric's Pictures

KATHLEEN NORRIS' great story "Poor, Dear Margaret Kirby," which opens a four day engagement today at the Lyric theatre, is one of the best feature attractions the Lyric has given us this season. Miss Elaine Hammerstein, who has the distinction of possessing the most beautiful profile in screendom, has the title role, one that exactly suits her personality.

Margaret Kirby is the wife of John Kirby, a man of considerable wealth. One of her admirers is Rutherford Peet, also a wealthy man. Mrs. Kirby is a well known hostess and lives only for her society activities. The one day, due to business troubles of her husband, she is forced to turn her home into a boarding house, and to add to her difficulties her husband, thru an abortive attempt at suicide, is a helpless invalid. Confined to his room, hearing the "boarders" enjoying themselves, the husband who is not acquainted with the drastic measures his wife has taken, misunderstands and frequently upbraids his wife. Before the happy ending is reached, Margaret Kirby suffers the torture which comes from unfaithful friends and scandalous tongues, but she is game all the way thru and her detractors are suitably punished.

Miss Hammerstein wears many stunning gowns in this new production. The interiors and scenery are said to be gorgeous and the supporting cast is an excellent one, including as it does, William Davidson, William Gamble, Ellen Cassidy and Tom Broke.

Elaine Hammerstein has never made a picture that you can afford to miss, and if you have followed the screen career of this beautiful young actress you know that each succeeding photoplay in which she has appeared, was just a little better than the one preceding. This is also true of "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby."

Accompanying the above feature production will be seen a new Harold Lloyd comedy, entitled "Now or Never." Mr. Lloyd has chosen a Pullman as the base of operation in the new fun film, and promises something new and different in the way of comies. The engagement of "Now or Never" is for four days only.

Lloyd comedy, entitled "Now or Never."

Doraldina as Nasoni, her manner of landing among the man-eating savages of the island, and her strange influence over them, gives the way to a strange romance, which is given the plot, which provides a good reason for several of the most beautiful and exotic dances ever given on the silver sheet.

Doraldina is a new personality to the screen and in "The Woman Untamed" she has just the role she needs to display her charms. In fact, the story was written and directed by the star herself.

To see "The Woman Untamed" is to see a picture that departs materially from the usual run of photoplays. For that very reason it is decidedly worth your while. At the Lyric theatre today and Monday.

NEWSY NOTES

Constance Talmadge was seen walking down Broadway the other day with a diamond circlet clasping her dainty ankle. Her husband was with her.

Jackie Coogan, better known as "The Kid," paid income tax on $52,000.00 according to government reports.

That boy's going to be a help to his parents when he grows up!

"Lorna Doone," R. D. Blackmore's famous novel, is to be filmed in England by Maurice Tourneur. The leading parts will be taken by American players.

Gloria Hope is going to marry Lloyd Hughes, the lace leading man. Gloria is 20.

Theda Bara is in Paris, visiting her married sister, Loro. Theda is not married.

George Scharf was born in these old United States, despite the fact that he portrays Italian roles so perfectly.

Did you know Elaine Hammerstein has a double? They say that Helen Darling, a Christie Comedy favorite, is peculiarly like the beautiful Elaine.

NEW YORK.—(Special)—At the Garrick the Theater Guild has entered upon a three-week revival of the Guild's first signal success, St. John Ervine's play of "John Ferguson". The Chicago company has been brought into town in Cohan's "The Vagabond," for another engagement and with Cohan in the name part as a side fling of his attested versatility. At the Globe a California company has ushered in a four weeks' engagement in a musical extravaganza, "Sun-Kist," and an "All Colored Musical Melange" called "Shuffle Along," is inaugurating an indefinite stay, with Miss Lottie Gee as leading woman, said to be one of the best-known colored prima donnas in the country.

There is nothing in all this that is wholly novel or eventful, a sort of cleaning-up of the winter season and a starting of the spring season, with the prospective summer attractions still to be heard from.

A not too critical summary of the crop of worthwhile plays put on during the winter gives the palm to the small houses in the out-of-the-way localities. The more pretentious theaters have confined themselves principally to sticking close to the maxim of "giving the public what it wants," which is not by any means the best. It establishes a false scale of censorship. The public rarely knows what it wants until it has it spread out before it and so far as anybody can find out it is not consulted. Two of the best plays of the winter season were contributed by the Provincetown Players to the handful. One is Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" and the other is Susan Glaspell's "Inheritors". The Neighborhood Players put on Galsworthy's "The Mob" and two of the best were offered by the Theater Guild, one being Molnar's "Lilium" and the other Shaw's "Heartbreak House". The "gullars" come in with not more than two or three. "The Here" was only played at special matinees but is promised next season as a regular night attraction. Two others were Frank Craven's "The First Year" and Clara Kummer's "Rolla's Wild Oats". "The Ghost Between" proved interesting mainly because of the splendid acting of Arthur Byron.

At the Winter Garden "The Passing Show" completes its season on Saturday evening when the big house will be turned over to the artists who are to appear in the revival of "The Belle of New York," which is announced for this week with a specially selected cast.

Arnold Daly has conceived the notion of giving New York a permanent repertory theater and has selected the Greenwich Village playhouse for the scene of his enterprise. This notion is not original with Daly. Others have had it and have actually started to carry it out. The history of these commendable ventures have invariably been that with the first success, the repertory idea was abandoned and the adventurer naturally graduated into an entrepreneur, to be heard of a season or two, maybe, and then vanish from the surface of things, or else to settle down comfortably into the groove of a regular producer. But Daly has a record for doing just such things consistently.

Bernard Shaw owes more to him than to any other American for popularizing his plays in the United States. He stuck devotedly to "Candida," "You Never Can Tell," "The Man of Destiny" and incidentally showed what a clever actor he is. Nothing, he declares, will be allowed to run more than two months in his proposed repertory theater. The opening attraction will be Carl Schorer's "The Children's Tragedy," and as that is a rather short play, it will be preceded by a revival of "The Man of Destiny" by the Irish dramatist's famous sketch of Napoleon. Daly is now in Vienna to confer with Schorer and to look about for other plays suitable to his purpose. He will stop off in Paris for a short time to appear in a French moving picture and to sweep France clean of eligible dramas and comedies for his theater. "Candida" is also to be revived and another revival is to be Hermann Bahr's "The Master," in which Mr. Daly scored a signal success several seasons ago. Along with several revivals, new offerings will be presented. There seems to be nothing in the way why Mr. Daly should not make a success of his venture. There is not a single theater in New York that has a distinct artistic character—that is to say, an individuality. Very few are even exclusively devoted to dramatic works; almost all of them are indiscriminate in character, presenting drama and musical comedy as what betide. The Shuberts and what used to be the Klaw & Erlanger firm make no distinctions. Belasco never meddles with musical works and therefore sticks consistently to drama and comedy. No one in recent years has tried to give his theater a permanent stamp that represents a distinct quality and usually builds up a faithful following. As a consequence, theater-going has lost a certain intangible charm, in New York at least, just as the one-time first nights have passed into the limbo of neglected things, no longer events but just every day occurrences.

Walter Hampden has closed his Shakespearean season with rather gratifying results. He has fairly stood the test and will go forth with considerable prestige as an accepted classic actor. That is, saying something since New York is not much concerned about the opinions of the metropolitan critics to act Shakespeare in other parts, or you may not care so well. His Hamlet is an excellent technical performance, but lacks the spiritual depths, and he is picturesque and robust in Macbeth and fairly attractive as Romeo. But he can claim well-earned laurels as Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew," that being his best character. There is always some actor who specializes in Shakespeare and now that Robert Mantell is about retiring it will probably be Hampden and Fritz Leiber who will keep alive the memories of the greatest dramatist and present his characters to the rising generation.

The management of "Two Little Girls in Blue" had the inspiration to offer a prize of $10 to the oldest pair of twins who would present themselves at a special matinee. The event proved successful beyond expectations. There were 109 pairs of twins in attendance. The prize went to two brothers from Brooklyn who gave their age at 87 years. The next oldest were a pair of twin sisters, aged 75 years, and next came two Civil War Veterans, William and James Farmer, 75 years old. One notable thing was that most of the twins were of the same sex—only four or five pairs being brothers and sisters.

The first long play of the promising dramatist, Eugene O'Neill, entitled "Gold," begins its engagement at the Frazee Theater Monday evening. O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" has inspired much interest in his latest work, and a good deal is expected of it, especially as the producer, John D. Williams, is known to exercise a discriminating judgment in regard to anything he undertakes.

"Phoebe of Quality Street" has already come to the end of its lease. It has had one of the notably short engagements of the season, presuming somewhat too freely on the indulgence of the paying public, lambs that they are.

Barney Bernard, who inherited the dialect, atmosphere, characteristics and other assets of the firm of Potash and Perlmutter as the surviving partner, is due for an early appearance in town in a play called "Two Blocks Away," in which he will impersonate a ghetto cobbler from the East Side of New York. The character will have the main characteristics and coloring of the Yiddish type in which Bernard has been so remarkably successful and the comedy will add one more to the many which have in recent years made their appearance on the American stage concerned with the life of Jewry.

Irene Fenwick's next appearance in the city, if the preliminaries go well, will be in a piece entitled "Zizi", a farcical comedy by Fred de Gresac and Fred Jackson. It has recently been tried out at Atlantic City.

Two of the best-known playwrights of the day have joined hands in writing the new play in which Emily Stevens is to appear next season. It is entitled "St. Ursula" and the authors are Edward Sheldon, who wrote "Romance" and "Salvation Nell" among other notable works, and Zoe Atkins, who provided Ethel Barrymore with one of her distinguished successes, "Declasse".

London has called for the personal appearance of John Charles Thomas, New York's leading baritone, in Fritz Kreisler's "Apple Blossoms", which is to be presented in the British capital soon. A London syndicate is behind the offer. Other members of the American cast are also to go over. This is the last week of Dora Keane in "Romance" at the Playhouse, where it has been running steadily since February 28.

There has been an exchange of felicitations between the American producers of "The Last Waltz" and the composer, Oscar Straus and these international cordialities are supplemented with the information that the composer of "The Chocolate Soldier" will set sail from Vienna in the course of a month to visit the metropolis and inspect his work. I am somewhat curious what Straus will say when he sees it. He is notoriously a stickler for art for art's sake and not the box office, as was demonstrated when Fred C. Whitney and the American adapter of "The Chocolate Soldier" made a special trip to Vienna to propose the insertion of numbers and the making of changes which they thought necessary to please the American public. Straus received the suggestions with kindly smile but very emphatically informed his visitors that however flattering it was to him to know that his work was to be produced in English, he could not consent to any changes, as the work represented an artistic whole which had been carefully thought out. Although he was asked to consider the new numbers himself, he declined, and his judgment was vindicated by the phenomenal success of the operetta, which made almost a million dollars for Whitney.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

Cherry and Jane were still busily trying on clothes and going into rap-ports over some of the pretty hats when Ned put his head in the door and called out a merry "Hello!"

"How's my lady-bird been getting on all day?" he asked, coming up to where Cherry sat on the floor, her feet sticking out from under the skirt, and she was looking at a pair of slippers, ribbons and innumerable bits of feminine apparel.

"Been having a perfectly splendid time, Neddy, dear," she assured him, jumping up and throwing her arms around his neck eagerly. Ned looked at her happily to him, then drew her over to an armchair and placed her on his knee solemnly.

"Let's see if the lady-bird is a little bit tired," looking closely at her flushed face. "No, it looks as bright as ever. But remember, tonight we must go to bed early, for I've just found out that there's heaps and heaps of work for your old Neddy to do down at the works, and he must get up with the lark in the morning."

"That's quite all right, Ned, dear boy, you go ahead with your work and don't bother your head about me till you've got everything in ship-shape order again. Then we'll have time to play about together again. I've been invited to join all sorts of clubs here already, so I expect that the next week or two will be busy ones for Cherry as well as Ned. And when you're all thru with the heavy work we'll be able to have some games of tennis together, won't we?" she asked, smoothing his hair in the way he loved best.

"Deed we will, and in the meantime there are any number of good players who will be only too glad to practice up with you, I know."

"Neddy, tell me some about your father. Mother says that Jack is so much like him and I like Jack so much already that I know your father and I would have been great friends if he had lived to meet me.

"Father was a splendid man, Cherry. He was romantic, just a mother told you, and Jack has certainly inherited this trait of his. Father was born to be an artist of some sort or other, he always loved to write and dream, and mother never did, and couldn't even understand this streak in him. They were married very young, and instead of becoming a writer he went into business here and raised a family. Funny part is that mother never could make him go like she wanted him to. He always thought as he pleased and altho he was a good provider he always seemed remote in some way or other. A year before he died the doctor discovered that he was terribly rundown and one of his lungs slightly affected, so they ordered a sea trip. Dad looked happier than I had ever seen him look the night before he sailed and somehow or other I understood it. He went half way round the world and took the fever out in India, and died there."

MAN WHO WAS TIRED OF HIS WIFE

He awoke blessedly oblivious of the never-to-be-achieved but refreshed by their inspiration, he was in extraordinary fine humor, tingling with a pleasant expectancy of what the day might bring forth. He walked to the station with the Anderson kid, chuckling all the way at the youngster's naive condemnation. He arrived at the station two trains ahead of time.

"Somebody left you a million dollars?" quizzed a nosy neighbor Margery had already dubbed the Chronic Obvious.

"This kind of a day makes me feel that way," Charles was blandly complacent. "My un-stale aunt calls this kind of day 'scrummy-digunous!'"

Bertha spent fully two hours that afternoon dressing to call on Margery. She meant to dazzle her, to overwhelm her, to put her in her proper place. For after all she was nobody but a girl who had washed dishes for a family named Robinson. She was an ugly duckling who hadn't grown into a swan.

Pretty Mrs. Shirley was very pleasant to look upon when she was ready. Her bronzed hair curled smoothly under her broad-brimmed hat; slender and youthful-looking in a soft blue frock that made her eyes seem bluer than they were. She tripped to the end of the street on heels so high that she was haughty indeed. She regretted her chauffeur's illness as she hadn't regretted previously; she meant to mention it and her benevolence toward him as soon as she arrived, and she intended to call briefly and formally.

Margery was in the side yard giving Trudge a bath. She wore an old linen riding-habit; her bare feet were thrust into Chinese straw sandals with gay red straps. She had been washing her hair; it hung, half-dried, across the shoulders of a thoroughly wet blouse.

"Don't mind sitting on the steps while I finish off this pup, do you?" she was casual, not in the least awed by the elegance of her caller. "I suppose you never dives into the mud after flirtatious froggies—mine is such a trifle!" she scrubbed vigorously. "Poor dear, it hurts him worse than it hurts me."

Bertha swallowed hard. For some unexplained reason she found her throat aching. She could think of nothing to say. She wished desperately that the other woman would go on talking. But a stupid pause followed in which Margery seemed quite oblivious that Bertha was taking an unwilling inventory.

"Her skin is wonderful—she doesn't wear corsets—she isn't pretty, but her feet and her hands are—her teeth are lovely—the back of her neck is lovely—but she isn't pretty! She isn't!" Her thoughts whirled wildly. Blindly jealous she struck.

"No, don't stop. I can't stay very long. I'm just on my way to a tea. Charles thought you might be getting lonesome when—when you haven't much to do and don't know anybody here."

Margery put down the scrub brush. "Haven't a responsibility in the world," she agreed cheerfully. "It's a giddy, gorgeous feeling. Rented a croquet set, some fishing tackle—oh, I can hardly keep both feet on the ground, thinking of all the things I'm going to do this summer! Golf and tennis and ride and swim—"

"Is that all you're going to do?" Bertha's lips were trembling. She meant to put her question with delicate irony, but somehow all her apprehension slipped into her reckless query. She had a second of respite—"Of course she'll think I'm just making talk," she told herself.

But Margery, sinking back on her heels, eyed her visitor shrewdly.

"I'll be plesed if I know," she remarked suddenly. "I thought I knew exactly what you said to me. You said you meant to give you a large piece of my alleged mind. But now you're here 'n not sure—just that second you looked as tho you cared."

Tears rolled down Bertha's cheeks. "Cared! Why, I can't see why you thought I didn't!"

"Never occurred to me that you did," Margery jumped up as the dog began to shake himself. "Watch out, he'll spatter you—Charles didn't look to me as tho anybody cared about him; he just looked nagged to pieces. As tho you'd grabbed all you could get and not paid him anything for it."

"How dare you!" Bertha was on her feet, her head high with rage.

"Gee, you started it," Margery's slang and boyish grin were all that saved the situation. "I'm rather stumped at finding you care."

Bertha put her handkerchief to her eyes.

"I—ought to—hate you, but you are so queer I can't! I can't make you out. Ever since you've been here I haven't known what you were going to do next. Everything's been so different."

"I haven't changed things a smitch," Margery was busily collecting the brushes and sponges. "Well, I'll maroon Trudge on that clothes-post to dry. We'll have to have things out some time and—"

"It might as well be now," she actually sang the last phrase. "I won't take me a jiffy to get under the shower and into something dry. Oh, Mary!" she thumped on the back door. "Let us in thru the model kitchen; there's a dear! And put over some coffee and show Mrs. Shirley what lovely nut-cheese sandwiches we have for company—"

She held a swing-door to let her dazed caller thru a hallway to the cherry living room. "Don't sit on the wicker chair—it was there t hat Trudge landed after his recent affair with froggie; but I'll let you sit anywhere else you like."

The frankly curious Mary hovered about. Bertha couldn't manage an exit, but she sank limply to the piano bench.

Margery was back so quickly and so spectacularly that she almost took the older woman's breath away. With her hair brushed sleekly against her head, in green-rocaded clothes that had been made for a Chinese boy, she was a very different person from the shabby driver of the antiquated Dearborn roadster. Bertha noticed for the first time how delightfully her eyebrows slanted upward. She gazed a bit at the little figure perched on a high-backed chair, her haircloth sofa. She noticed that the hands that dropped quietly were perfectly steady. Bertha herself had to hold her fingers tightly clasped to keep them from trembling.

"Of course," Margery began casually. "I'm neither as had a lot as you think nor as unsophisticated as Charles thinks. But you've the wrong slant on this thing when you blame me for the way things are going with your honorable hubby."

"Things were quite all right till you came."

"Very edgy, I should judge; can't see why you hadn't noticed."

"He's never even looked at another woman in all the years we've been married."

"How careless of Charles! He shouldn't have let you get so darned sure of him."

"I should think," Bertha's tones shook with wifely virtue. "I had a perfect right to be sure of him."

"How did you earn it?" Margery was matter of fact. "Just being pretty doesn't entitle you to much. That's as archaic a notion as the once-divine right of queens. Yet lots of you pretty women haven't waked up to it. You don't work with him or play with. Just eating with him doesn't—"

"My relations with my husband aren't any of your business—"

"But mine," Margery was sweet-natured. "are very much yours. Now my relations with your husband will probably be mostly playful, and they won't cost him anything. I always play fifty-fifty. Pay my own caddy, buy my own golf balls and that sort of thing."

"He doesn't play golf," Bertha flashed triumphantly.

"But he's going to."

"We talked it over last fall and decided we didn't care to."

"You are rather corsety and nose-powdery for sports. And of course there are lots of devilishly good-looking women lying in wait at every green—"

"But I've told you that he's not interested in women. He wouldn't have even looked at you only he happened to know you when you were young. He doesn't like women. He says they bore him. He doesn't like to talk to them even. I have to make him talk or he'd be awfully rude to my friends. He almost never talks to a woman."

"He used to talk for hours and hours at a stretch to dear Auntie Debs."

"Why, she was his aunt. She was old."

"She wasn't his aunt at all, she was his uncle's wife—which is very, very different. He's exactly the same type of man as his Uncle Rodman, the same types of women attracted them. Auntie Debs was his first love. He adored her from the time he was a bit of a boy. How he ever decided to marry you, she never could decide. And don't you think for a minute that he talked Aunt Debs because she was old. She never really got old. She happened to get white hair and a few wrinkles, but they didn't stop her from being the most insidious kind of flirt ever. The kind that's so skillful that folks hardly ever suspect them."

"Why, she flirted with men, women and children and horses and dogs! Do you know?" Margery was so excited that she began to pace up and down the room. "I just happened to notice something while I was looking at you—your profile isn't unlike Aunt Debs'! I bet you could make yourself look a lot more like her than you do now. Probably Charles saw that—probably that was what attracted him in the first place. Take off your hat—"

Margery herself took it off with-out so much as by-your-leave. "I thought so! Yo ussly dear! That's such a reckless thing to do to your hair. I had a friend who tried it and in less than a year she'd ruined all that she had. I'd wash that right out as soon as I could if I were you. Your hair is the kind that grays ever so fast; it's going to be just darling when it's gray all over! And then, if you'd use just a touch of rouge instead of as much as you do and wear a tawny black velvet throat-band and daisy and daisy lace around your wrists and sit in little rocking chairs part of the time and very stiff, narrow, high-backed ones the rest—needlework in your hands—um, you'd be a perfect peach! You wouldn't get the hang of it all at once, but just a little practice and you'd look—"

"You aren't holding him with this young-looking skin," Margery was positively apologetic. "And really, it's going to get harder and harder, I honestly don't know how you've done it as well as you have. You've got to do something of course. Oh, is you only had some children! A boy to play tennis with, or a daughter, say, about twelve. Children would interest Charles enough that you'd not have to bother. He's really very easy to enthrall. But you haven't anything to work with except your looks, and he's so used to the ones you've got that he probably doesn't notice them any more."

"You're perfectly insulting!" Bertha was at the door, her blue eyes blazing with anger.

Big Double Bill at the Lyric Theater Today

Harold Lloyd the Added Attraction In "Now Or Never"

Scene from "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby" with Elaine Hammerstein in the leading role.

Elaine Hammerstein is one star without a single failure and there are those who go so far as to predict that she will never make a picture that you can afford to miss. And when the Lyric theatre announces her in "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby" along with Harold Lloyd in "Now or Never" as its big double bill for today you may rest well assured that when you go to the Lyric you'll not be disappointed.

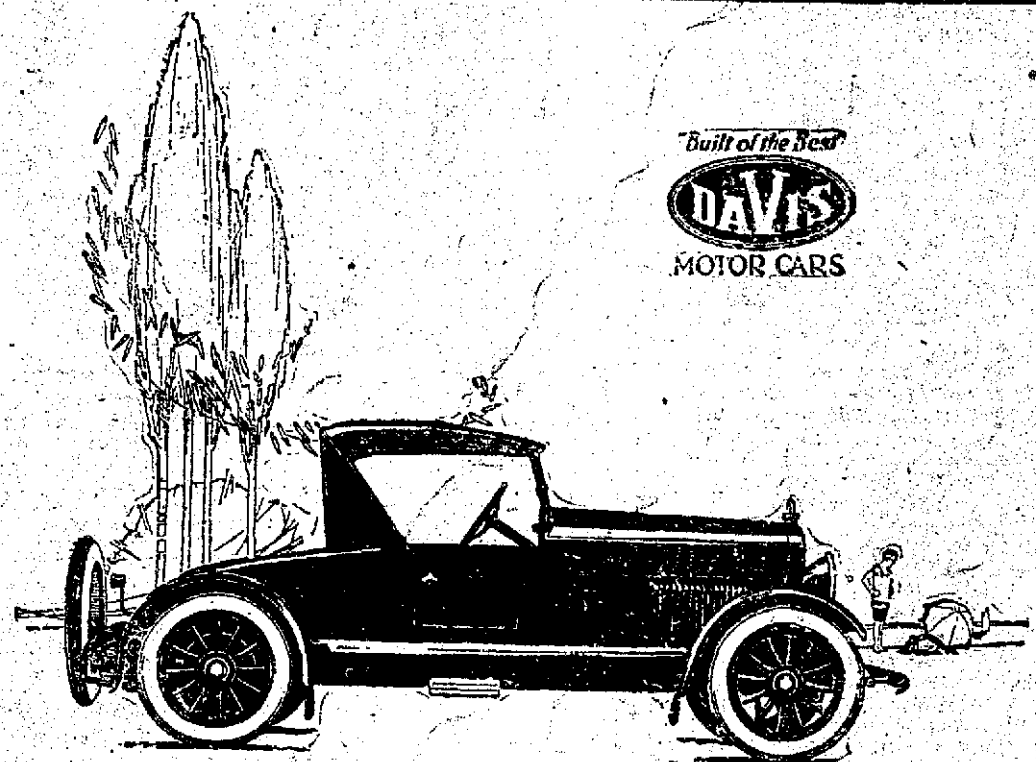

The characters in "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby" are all members of New York's most exclusive society set and the story winds itself about a wife reduced from great wealth to abject poverty in all but the twinkling of an eye. It details her dejection, her misery, her disappointment, her temptations and her final success in a vivid humanizing way.

Social position, wealth and all it could command was hers—then came the crash, but Margaret Kirby did not give up. She fought for love and happiness and won. It's a popular star in a popular story made up into a popular photo-play which possesses all the charm of the original novel plus an attraction all its own.

And you must not forget that Harold Lloyd, that real prince of all the fun makers of the screen will be in evidence as an added attraction in his new three-reeler "Now or Never." From the very title you can easily imagine the uproarously funny situations that Lloyd will find himself in. It is said that this is the best of his entire series of comedies which have been produced at a cost of over a million dollars and if you want to laugh and have a genuine good all-around time, don't miss the Lyric today.

ALEMITE
High Pressure Lubricating System

EVERY bearing is packed with grease in from 15 to 20 minutes when your car is equipped with ALEMITE.

A few turns of the compressor handle will force the new grease in and the old grit-laden lubricant out. It cleans, then lubricates.

It does away with all the former drudgery connected with mussy old "cups."

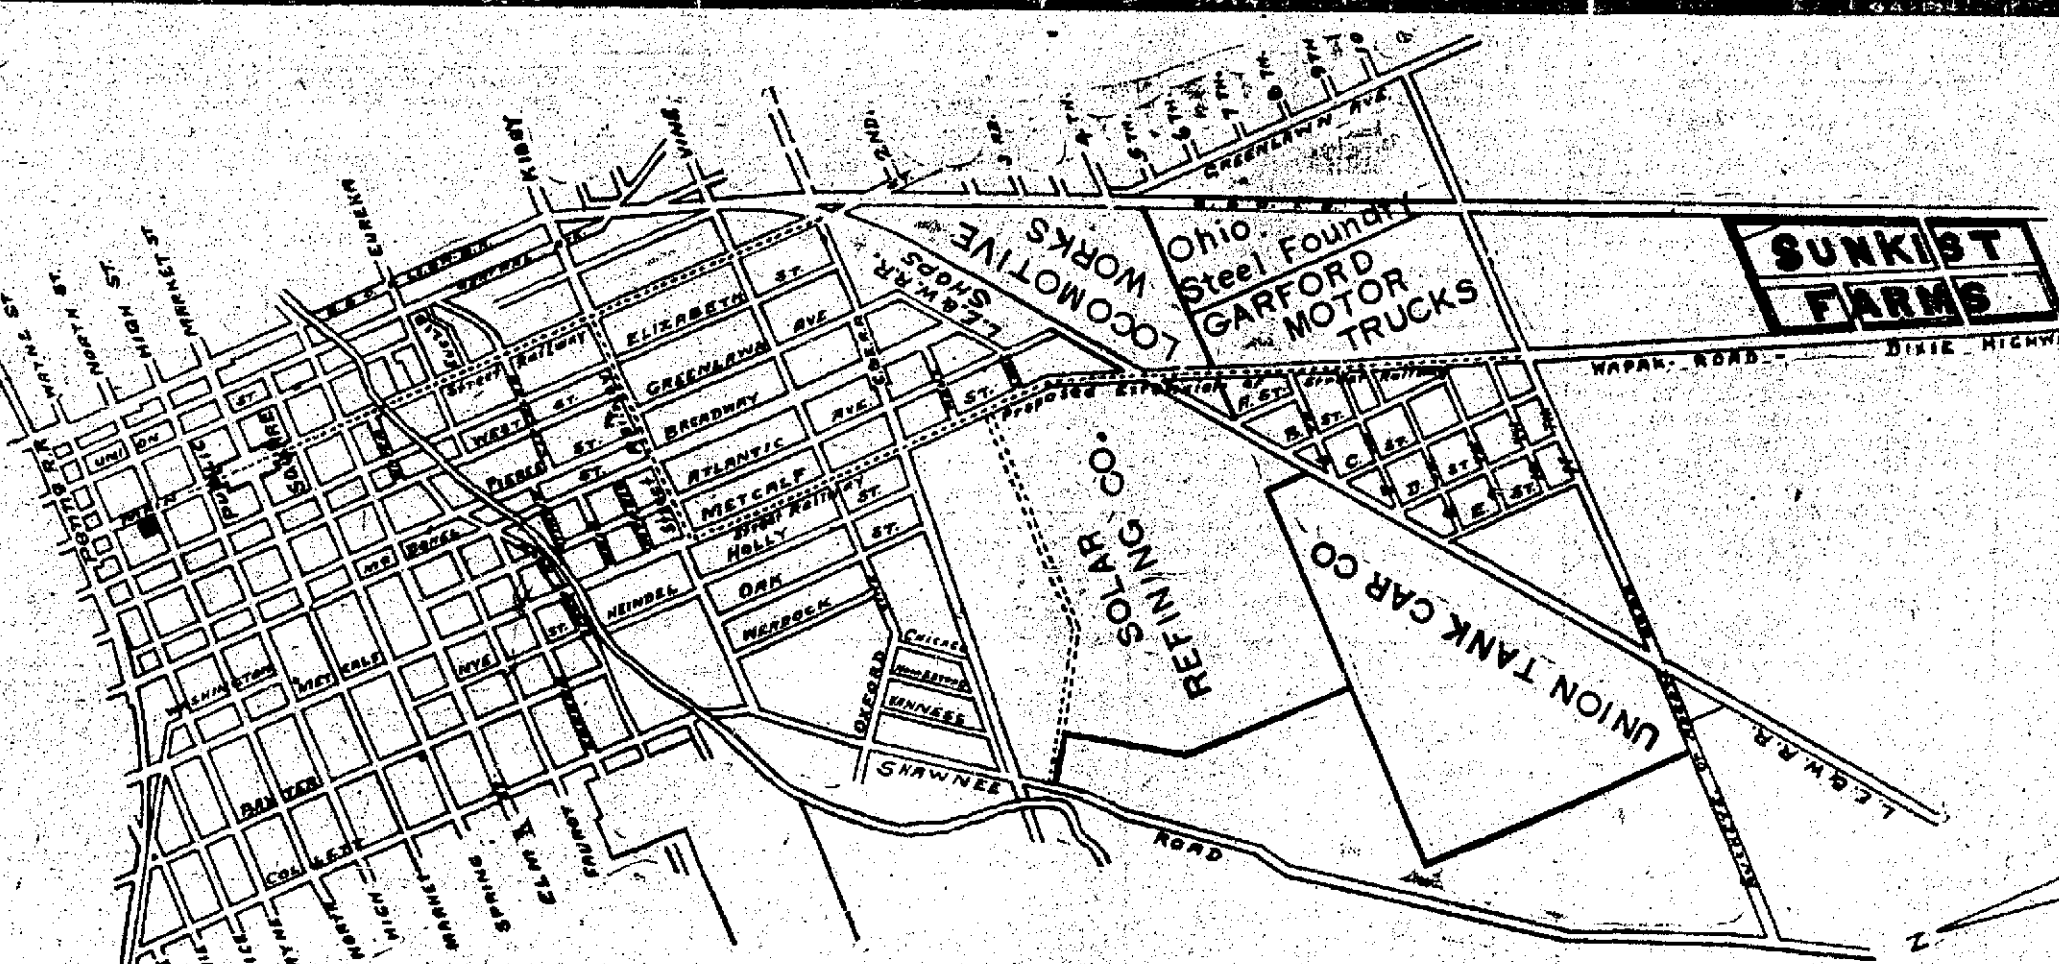

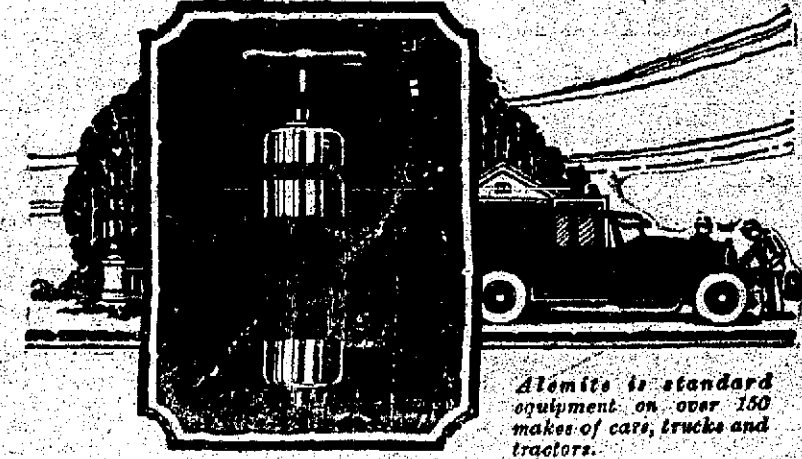

Let us tell you how easily ALEMITE may be installed.

Price: For average car $15.00.

SHORT SHAVINGS

"Say," the angry citizen exclaimed as he stormed his way to the editor's desk in the newspaper office. "What do you mean by listing me in the 'Deaths Reported' column this morning?"

"Was it a mistake, sir?" the editor asked, mildly.

"Of course it was. Don't you see I'm alive? You've caused me a great deal of annoyance. What are you going to do about it?"

"It is a rule of this paper never to admit having made an error, or to publish a correction," the editor told him firmly. "But," he added consolingly, "We wish to please our readers, and we'll fix you in all right. We'll put you in the 'Births' column tomorrow."

"Bobby," said the teacher sternly, "do you know that you have broken the eighth commandment by stealing James' apple?"

"Well," explained Bobby, "I thought I might as well break the eighth and have the apple as break the tenth and only covet it."

A young woman called at the postoffice. "Is this the classified letter place?" she asked. When assured it was, she gave her name and asked if there was a letter for her. "Business or love letter," jokingly inquired the clerk. "Business," was the hesitating reply, accompanied by a deep blush. There was no letter. The young lady again blushed and then said in faltering tones: "Please, would you mind looking among the love letters?"

INGROWN NAIL

Toughen Skin and Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions. Adv.

FOR SEVENTY YEARS NORDYKE & MARMON COMPANY HAS STOOD FOR HONORABLE MANUFACTURING, FOR CLEAN, FAIR DEALING AND FOR BUSINESS FAIR PLAY

Not Only 1922 Prices but the finest Marmon 34

The $3985 Marmon—formerly $5000—still maintains its remarkable supremacy in comparative demonstrations, as we gladly prove.

WHEN the Marmon 34 was priced at $5000, it sold on basis of comparative performance. Thus it won its popularity in the quality field. It proved outstanding supremacy when it and others were put through the 12 vital tests of performance.

It still retains that coveted position. Nothing but its price is changed. The $3985 Marmon 34 is the identical $5000 car, completely equipped.

While the 20% saving is the main appeal at present, remember that the Marmon 34 continues to hold its unique position in the engineering world as the sponsor of Advanced Engineering and Stabilized Design.

No man can afford now to buy according to old favorites. The new Marmon 34 price has upset all standards. It brings new values into discussion. Never has such a fine car been obtainable at such a low price.

Next, make comparisons of performance. A Marmon 34 is at your disposal. Visit our sales room, or telephone. We will put the Marmon 34 through the 12 vital tests. You can drive it yourself, if you choose.

Once you know this remarkable car, you'll be unable to resist its many attractions.

MARMON 34 PRICES
